KAISER DETERMINED TO CAPTURE WARSAW AND CRUSH RUSSIANS

Germans Want to Put Muscovites in Such a Position That Resumption of Offensive Will Be Impossible

AFTER THAT, ANOTHER STRIKE IN THE WEST

Austria Capture Town and 6,000 Russians -- Germans Make 64,000 Prisoners in East Prussia

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Notwithstanding its intense interest in the important questions which now involve shipping interests, England has not lost sight of the military operations in progress on both fronts. The fighting in east Prussia and Bukowina, where the two extreme wings of the Russian line are heavily engaged by Austro-German forces, is considered the most important present activity either in east or west. Petrograd insists that the Russians carried out their retirement from east Prussia in perfect order.

An important battle is raging in the vicinity of Augustowo where last fall the Russians stopped a similar German attempt to invade Russia. Now, however, the Muscovites confront a much more serious situation. Besides having sent a new army into east Prussia the Germans are in strong force in the district between east Prussia and the lower Vistula, where their continued advance would jeopardize the Russians holding the trenches south of the Vistula and those defending Warsaw.

The German plans are not quite clear, but it is believed they still have their eyes on Warsaw and hope by taking that city to break the Russian power to resume the offensive. That would leave Germany free to take more energetic steps against the allies in the west.

Anticipating this possibility, the allies during the past two days have made a vigorous attack in Flanders and France. The outcome cannot be stated, as French and German reports are in direct conflict.

A Berlin official statement says the Russians taken prisoners by the Germans in East Prussian now number 64,000.

The Austrians claim the capture of a town and 2,000 Russian prisoners in Galicia, also 4,000 more prisoners in the Carpathians.

In Bukowina the Austrians are reported to have partly surrounded the Russians before Czernowitz, but the battle continues and reinforcements are reaching the Russians, who have the advantage of unhampered railways both to this point and to Nadworna, further west, which the Austrians have reoccupied.

The Russians report continued progress in the Carpathians.

The British press now concedes that the Russians have lost heavily in their retreat from east Prussia.

In the Champagne and Argonne the Germans seem to be putting forth all their strength to capture ground lost last week.

Austrians Take Town and 6,000 Russian Prisoners

(By Associated Press.)

VIENNA, Feb. 18. (via London.)—Official reports given out here today say that after two days of hard fighting the Austrians have occupied the town of Kolomea in Galicia.

"This success was achieved yesterday afternoon by means of a general attack on the Russian positions," the report says. "We drove the enemy, in spite of his stubborn resistance, out of his last position in front of Kolomea and reaching the town at one operation. We prevented the Russians from blowing up the bridge over the river Pruth. The town, clear of retreating Russians, was occupied by us. We captured 2,000 prisoners and several machine guns and light cannon.

"In the Carpathian section as far as Verecki, the fighting continues with great ferocity. Four thousand additional prisoners have been brought in."

Russians Claim Success in Carpathians and Galicia

PETROGRAD, Feb. 18.—The general staff today issued this statement:

WARRANTS ACCUSE THREE OF OLIVER'S FORMER EMPLOYES

Lee County Coroner Orders Roy Black, Roy Jones and J. C. Webb, of Sumter County, Placed Under Arrest

CLAIM THREE WERE SEEN NEAR PLACE OF SHOOTING

Suspects Said to Have Been Near Leesburg in Automobile Wednesday Night-Finding of Shotgun Adds Clew

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

LEESBURG, Ga., Feb. 18.—Following an inquest behind closed doors, Coroner T. L. Ford, of Lee county, this afternoon issued warrants through Justice A. W. Goodwin, charging Roy Black and Roy Jones, of Americus, and J. C. Webb, of near Americus, with the murder here last night of A. D. Oliver.

Oliver, known as the "King of Climax" and famed throughout the south through his spectacular financial operations, was shot and killed just as he left the Farmers' Bank and Loan company, of which he was president.

B. R. Morefield, sheriff, and P. T. Coswell, deputy sheriff, have left Leesburg to arrest the accused men. Three separate warrants, each charging murder, were issued.

Witnesses testified at the inquest that Black, Jones and Webb were seen in an automobile near here last night. All three were employed by Oliver when he conducted a bank at Smithville, near Americus.

Bloodhounds followed a trail from the scene of the shooting to a point about a mile from Leesburg, where it is believed the assailants had hidden an automobile. A shotgun was found in the bushes near the trail. Authorities have been unable to assign any motive for the murder.

Black, Jones and Webb will be brought to jail here.

Oliver is said to have left a life insurance policy for $25,000 in the Penn Mutual. This, it is said, was transferred a few months ago to Cashier Thance, cashier of the bank of Smithville, to secure notes.

An examination of Oliver's body showed that the wounds had been made with buckshot. The authorities believe his slayers escaped in an automobile.

Old checks for more than $600,000 were found in the banker's clothing. One on the Pennsylvania Railroad company, which was eleven years old, called for $256,000, while another on the Columbia County bank, of Benton, Pa., was for $350,000. Both were made payable to Oliver.

Oliver was widely known throughout the south by reason of his fantastic financial schemes, stretching over a period of many years. He first came into the limelight in Georgia in 1906 when he arrived at Climax, in Decatur county, with, it is said, a handbag containing a few clothes as his sole worldly possession.

Oliver transacted with the owner of a Climax bank to take the concern over, giving checks on New York in exchange, it is said. He gained confidence of the public and the bank's vaults bulged with deposits. Soon he married Miss Rosebud English, daughter of a hotel keeper.

Finally, however, suspicions over alleged speculations arose and the bank president was halted as he was about to board an outgoing train. Efforts to fix blame on him in connection with his financial operations failed, but investigations resulted in his conviction as a bigamist and he was sent to the Lee county chain gang, where he served four years.

At the expiration of his sentence, Mississippi authorities accused Oliver of being L. C. Harding, who had escaped from that state while serving a sentence for swindling. Requisition was granted, but Oliver gained his freedom a few months ago by convincing the court that Harding was his twin brother.

Returning to Georgia, Oliver established himself at Leesburg and was said to be prospering as president of the Farmers' Bank and Loan company.

Barrow Says Women Have Something Better To Do Than Cast Votes

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 18.—David C. Barrow chancellor of the state university, spoke today to deliver an address at the Georgia state college for colored youths. The coming of the chancellor has aroused interest locally in his views on equal suffrage because his niece, Mrs. Frank C. McIntire, is at the head of one of the district clubs of the equal suffrage league in connection with equal suffrage the chancellor said today to a representative of The Journal:

"I think women are wise enough to vote, I think they are good enough to vote—not too good; I think they are strong enough to vote. I think there are a few who are old enough to vote. But—I think they have something better to do than to go into politics. Nevertheless I believe equal suffrage will eventually come in this state."

CHARGE STATE OFFICIALS PAID OUT FEES ILLEGALLY

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 18.—C. Brooks Smith, former state auditor, and John Purifoy, former state treasurer, are held jointly and individually responsible for more than $40,000 alleged to have been paid out illegally for special counsel fees during their terms of office, according to a report filed with Governor Henderson by J. T. Gorman and W. E. Wilkinson, examiners of public accounts.

BEAVERS' OPPONENTS SUGGEST MOYER FOR ATLANTA POLICE HEAD

Fate of Present Chief Now Hangs Upon Election of New Police Board Members Monday Week

ATTITUDE OF FEDERAL PRISON HEAD UNKNOWN

Renfroe and Others Think Mr. Moyer Would Prove Very Suitable Man for Place in Event of Change

The announcement that W. H. Moyer, for a number of years warden of the federal penitentiary, is likely to be retired at an early date, has caused members of council who have been identified with the fight on Chief of Police Beavers to suggest that an effort to get Mr. Moyer to head the police department should be made.

It is generally believed that the fate of Chief Beavers hangs upon the elections for membership on the police board, which will be held in council on Monday week. Six new commissioners are to be named on that date, and while the election of three men friendly to Chief Beavers is practically conceded, a fight is being made for the other three places and it is very close. In the First ward Dr. W. E. Foster is running against S. A. Wardlaw. In the Third ward William Broadbent is a candidate against the incumbent, W. A. Vernoy, and in the Sixth ward friends of Captain J. W. English are seeking to elect him to the place now held by J. F. Letton, who is a candidate to succeed himself.

MOYER SUGGESTED.

As a result there has been much casting about for a likely successor to the name of Warden Moyer, if he can be induced to accept the position, is being prominently mentioned.

Councilman J. N. Renfroe, of the First ward, who is leading the fight for Foster, made the statement Thursday that he considers the penitentiary warden the man for the place, if he will accept it.

While it is understood that Mr. Moyer has not been yet approached by members of the police board or of council, the mention of his name has caused much interest in political circles.

"I have always thought that the city should probably go outside of the department in selecting a chief," he said. "I recently several members of the board and several prospective members of that body have advanced the same theory. Also they have mentioned several individuals, but none of them do I consider as well qualified for such a position as the present head of the federal penitentiary."

Councilman Renfroe in discussing the situation Thursday said that since the publication of the report that Warden Moyer is soon to be retired, he has been considering the possibility of the city's securing his services.

SALARY $3,000.

"As warden of the federal prison Mr. Moyer has been receiving a salary of $4,000," said the councilman, "and the office of chief of police pays only $3,000 a year. However, if he would accept the position at the present salary, and made good, as I am sure he would, I believe that there would be no difficulty about increasing the salary at the end of the year."

FIGHT BETWEEN INDIANS AND WHITES IMMINENT

Piutes Arm Themselves to Prevent Posse Capturing Indian Wanted for Murder

(By Associated Press.)

DENVER, Feb. 18.—Advices from Cortez, Colo., early today state that the posse of twenty-six men who left there yesterday for Bluff, Utah, to attempt the capture of Tse-Ne-Gat, a Piute Indian, wanted by the federal authorities at this city on the charge of murdering a herder near Cortez last March, spent the night in McElmo canon, twenty miles west of here. An effort will be made to reach Grayson, Utah, about forty miles west of McElmo canon, tonight, where the party expects to meet the Piutes.

Under the leadership of "Old Polk," father of the Indian whose capture is sought, a band of fifty or more armed Piutes are reported to have gathered in a remote section of southwestern Utah to aid Tse-Ne-Gat in an effort to elude arrest.

FIVE BRITISH MERCHANT SHIPS SUNK BY GERMANS

WHILE ROME BURNS

LEHON MUST PAY FINE OR SERVE THIRTY DAYS

Court of Appeals Upholds the Lower Court--Must Face Trial in Superior Court

Dan S. Lehon, manager in charge of William J. Burns' Southern headquarters at New Orleans, who was recently acquitted by a jury in the Fulton superior court of charges of subornation of perjury in the Frank case, must pay a fine of $100 or serve thirty days in the city stockade—the penalty placed upon him in the recorder's court last May by Judge Nash R. Broyles, who tried him on the charge that he had violated the city ordinances by performing private detective work without first obtaining the approval of the board of police commissioners and the chief of police.

The state court of appeals Thursday affirmed the judgment of Judge John T. Pendleton, of the Fulton superior court, in refusing to sanction Lehon's petition for a certiorari of his case from the recorder's court.

In addition to fining Lehon, Judge Broyles bound him over to the state courts for the alleged violation of sections 337 and 338 of the penal code of 1910, which prohibits any person from performing the functions of a policeman, sheriff, constable, marshal or detective, unless such person has obtained his credential from the proper authorities. These charges are still standing against Lehon in the superior court, but no date has yet been set for the trial.

Lehon's arraignment before Recorder Broyles followed the announcement of the sensational Ragsdale affidavit in the Frank case. Lehon was not only fined for violation of the city ordinance, but as a result of the activities of himself and William J. Burns in connection with the Frank case the board of police commissioners and the city council revoked the permit under which the Burns agency did business in Atlanta.

In appealing his Lehon contended that that city ordinances governing the operations of private detectives were unconstitutional and therefore void. The court of appeals held that these ordinances were valid.

Little, Powell, Hooper and Goldstein were Lehon's attorneys, while the city of Atlanta was represented by City Attorney James L. Mayson and Assistant City Attorney W. D. Ellis, Jr.

FORBID SALE OF HEAVY INTOXICANTS TO SOLDIERS

BERLIN, Feb. 18. (via London.)—While proprietors of large cafes are pleading for extension until 2 o'clock of the recent 1 o'clock closing order, on the ground that they are facing ruin, the police are reported to be considering forbidding all afternoon cabarets and vaudeville teas.

Failing to obtain results merely by making appeals, the police have issued an order, operative tomorrow, forbidding sale to soldiers of all heavy intoxicants. Virtually everything but beer is placed under the ban.

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Democratic and Republican senators agreed today to send the government ship bill as it passed the house to conference until February 27, and to take up the intervening time passing appropriation bills.

Republicans announced that would resume their filibuster against the ship measure when it again was taken up, until adjournment of congress.

SUFFRAGISTS ORGANIZED FOR WORK IN ATLANTA

Committees Formed to Spread Propaganda in Every Ward and Precinct

Atlanta suffragists have organized ward committees and precinct committees for the purpose of spreading their propaganda and are giving weekly teas in many parts of the city.

Under the supervision of the Fulton and DeKalb county branch of the Equal Suffrage party of Georgia, John Cooper has laid out the wards into precincts according to population; each precinct has a captain who works under the supervision of a ward leader, and it is the intention of these leaders and their workers to reach every person in Atlanta on the suffrage question.

Mrs. H. A. Wason and Mrs. W. Hinchcliff Fourth and Third ward leaders, have called a meeting of all the suffragists in their wards, to be held at their homes at 3:30 o'clock next Monday afternoon.

NOMINATIONS HELD UP AT HARDWICK REQUEST

Senator May Make Fight on Confirmation of Two Postmasters

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Pending an inquiry by Senator Hardwick, the nominations of Charles L. Collins and John C. Evans for postmasters at Cartersville and Warrenton, respectively, will be held up by the senate postoffice committee. It is possible that the junior senator may object to th econfirmation of both of these nominees.

Collins was nominated several days ago to succeed Walter Akerman at Cartersville, on the recommendation of Congressman Gordon Lee, of the Seventh district. Senator Hardwick favored the nomination of Levi Reeves for this office, but made no direct recommendation to the postmaster general.

Evans was nominated on the recommendation of Congressman Vinson of the Tenth to succeed Miss Annie L. Burkhalter. Evans is Vinson's private secretary and objections have been filed with the senator to his confirmation.

COSMOPOLITAN LIFE TO RETIRE FROM BUSINESS

Atlanta Concern's Affairs Reinsured by Pan-American Life of New Orleans

Announcement was made Thursday that the business of the Cosmopolitan Life Insurance company, of Atlanta, has been reinsured by the Pan-American Life Insurance company, of New Orleans, La., and the Cosmopolitan will liquidate and retire from business.

The Cosmopolitan has been in operation since April, 1913, and had $1,200,000 of life insurance in force. Its capital stock was $120,000, held almost entirely by Georgia people, among them a number of people in Atlanta.

The company in liquidating will reimburse the stockholders dollar for dollar on their stock and in addition will pay them a handsome profit, so the retirement will in no wise entail a loss to anyone involved.

As to the interests of the policyholders, they are well protected, for the Pan-American is one of the strongest life insurance companies in the south and one of the ablest in its management, having a capital stock of $1,000,000, a surplus of $700,000 and $17,000,000 of insurance in force.

The directors of the Cosmopolitan, although they had authority, did not close the transaction without the sanction of the stockholders, but called the stockholders together at a meeting Wednesday and laid the matter before them. The stockholders approved the plan and authorized the directors to liquidate and return the proceeds to the stockholders, which will be done at once.

OFFICERS OF COMPANY.

The officers of the Cosmopolitan are as follows:

President, J. C. Wynn; vice president, Arthur G. Powell; secretary, M. M. Riley.

Mr. Wynn, the president, who is one of the south's best known insurance men, in explaining Thursday the reasons why the company decided to retire, said:

"Insurance conditions for several months have been such that the company could not operate without impairing its surplus to the point where I was unwilling to go. As president of the company I have exercised the most rigid economy, twice voluntarily reducing my own salary. When my friends in Atlanta subscribed to stock in the company I told them if the time should ever come when the company could not stay in business, without risking their money, I would stop. This point has now been reached. We could have gone along and pulled through in all probability, and if only my interests had been involved I would not have hesitated to proceed, but I was unwilling to undertake it at the risk of the stockholders, and we are now closing out with a handsome profit to them and with the policyholders splendidly protected in a company whose resources are very large."

SUBMARINE WAR ON BRITISH ISLES WILL NOT BE CALLED OFF

Germany's Reply to U. S. Protest Couched in Friendly Terms but Declare Blockade Will Be Carried Out

SITUATION, NOT CRITICAL, OPINION IN WASHINGTON

Swift British and French Destroyers Will Accompany All Ships of Allies Through New War Zone

(By Associated Press.)

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Feb. 18.—The German steamer Holger, which has arrived here, brings news that during January and February the German auxiliary cruiser Kronprinz Wilhelm, operating on the northern coast of Brazil, sank the British steamer Hemisphere, the British steamer Polaro, the sailing ship Sumatra and the sailing ship Wilfred. The crews of these vessels are on board the Holger.

On the Holger there also were fifty-one passengers and ninety crew members of the British steamer Highland Brae, 7,631 tons, belonging to the Nelson Steam Navigation company of London, which left London January 3 for Buenos Aires and was sunk in the Atlantic by a German warship.

The crews of the other vessels named as sunk apparently were also saved, for the Holger has on board twenty-seven men from the Hemipsphire, forty-seven from the Polaro, twenty-two from the Sumatra, and seven from the Wilfred.

The German auxiliary cruiser Kronprinz Wilhelm has been operating against British merchantmen off South America since the first month of the war. The ship formerly was a North German-Lloyd liner. It left New York August 3 and reached Bremen, and since then her whereabouts has been a mystery.

Germany Is Determined on Submarine Blockade

BERLIN, via London, Feb. 18.—Germany's reply to the protest of the United States against designation of a naval war zone about the British Isles is couched in the most friendly terms, but firmly maintains the position of Germany as already announced.

The German note recommends that the United States send warships to England to convey merchant vessels through the danger zone as security against attack, with the understanding that vessels thus guarded shall carry no war supplies.

ACTION NECESSARY.

The note, which has been transmitted to Washington through the American embassy, explains that Germany's action was made necessary by Great Britain's policy of attempting to cut off the food supply of the German civil population by a method never recognized in international law. England, in ordering merchantmen to fly neutral flags, equipping them with artillery, and ordering them to destroy submarines, Germany contends, renders nugatory the right of search, and gives Germany the right to attack English shipping. Germany holds that she cannot abandon that right under the stress England has forced upon her.

Germany argues that since she must compel her enemies to return to the recognized principles of international law and restore the freedom of the seas, the stand she has taken is necessary. Hope is expressed that the American government will understand the position in which Germany has been placed and appreciate the reasons for her course.

READY FOR TERMS.

The reply closes with an expression of the hope that the United States may prevail upon Great Britain "to return to the principles of international law recognized prior to the outbreak of the war," and in particular obtain observance of the declaration of London. If this were done, the note explains, Germany would be able to import food supplies and raw materials. Germany would recognize in this, says the reply, an invaluable service toward a more humane conduct of the war and would act in accordance with the new situation thus created.

Swift Destroyers Will Escort Ships of Allies

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Swift British and French destroyers will meet all threatened steamships flying flags of the allies and escort them into port, according to cable messages received by officials of steamship companies with offices in this city. The receipt of these messages, officials of British and French lines announced today made them confident that the German sea decree which went into effect today would have little effect upon sailings to and from ports in England and France.

Many of the big steamship lines brought forth statements that there was no intention of changing routes or sailing dates.

The White Star liner Adriatic from this port with many prominent passengers is due at Liverpool about noon on Friday. The officials of the line say that she will undoubtedly be convoyed by war vessels through the war zone.

Harold A. Sanderson, president of the International Mercantile Marine, was a passenger on the White Star liner Megantic yesterday. He said that he did not believe the danger to passenger steamers is any greater now than it was before Germany's decree went into effect.

The Megantic will call at Halifax, N. S., and should reach Liverpool next Thursday.

FOUR PRISON GUARDS PUT BACK ON ELIGIBLE LIST

Action Was Taken Through Efforts of Senator Hoke Smith

BY RALPH SMITH.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Senator Hoke Smith was informed by the attorney general that he had restored to the eligible list of the civil service, Guards Risson, Dunn, Cobb, and McClure of the Atlanta Federal penitentiary, who were dismissed from the service in December 1913. He has declined to restore Guards Baugh and Grimes.

That W. H. Moyer is slated for removal as warden of the Atlanta penitentiary is no longer denied at the department of justice, and it may be stated that the attorney general is in doubt only as to whether he shall name Dr. Robert M. Little, of Philadelphia or Edward J. Fogarty, warden of the Indiana penitentiary for the position.

Prison Superintendent Duhay is understood to have been exceptionally well impressed with Dr. Little at the conference yesterday, and Attorney General Gregory has instituted investigations on his own account to further satisfy himself as to the fitness of the Philadelphia man.

Except for the fact that the attorney general directed a similar inquiry as to the fitness of Fogarty and received excellent reports, the fact that he has so interested himself in Dr. Little would indicate his probable appointment. As it is, however, the attorney general has reached no decision as between the two men.

How to Have the Best Cough Remedy and Save $2 by Making It at Home

Cough medicines, as a rule contain a large quantity of plain syrup. A pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, stirred for 2 minutes, gives you as good syrup as money can buy.

Then get from your druggist 2½ ounces Pinex (50 cents worth), pour into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with sugar syrup. This gives you, at a cost of only 54 cents, a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50—a clear saving of nearly $2. Full directions with Pinex. It keeps perfectly and tastes good.

It takes hold of the usual cough or chest cold at once and conquers it in 24 hours. Splendid for whooping cough, bronchitis and winter coughs.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it loosens the dry, hoarse or tight cough and heals and soothes the inflamed membranes in the case of a painful cough. It also stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, combined with guaiacol, and has been used for generations to heal inflamed membranes of the throat and chest.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex," and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Miss Rosa M. Keller's Struggle to Keep Up--How Vinol Helped to Ward Off Nervous Breakdown.

Alburtis, Pa.—"I am a teacher in the public schools and I got into a very nervous, run-down condition. I could not sleep and had no appetite. I was tired all the time.

"My sister told me how Vinol had built up her nephew and asked me to try it. I did so, and within a week after taking Vinol my appetite improved and I could sleep all right and now I feel well and strong.

"Vinol is certainly a fine medicine and even the doctors say it is a good tonic."—ROSA M. KELLER, Alburtis, Pa.

The reason Vinol restored Miss Keller to her normal health was because in a natural manner it sharpened her appetite, aided digestion, strengthened her nerves, and as a result brought the refreshing sleep she needed.

SUBMARINE WAR ON BRITISH ISLES WILL NOT BE CALLED OFF

Transport line was to depart from London today. She probably will have no more than a dozen first-class cabin passengers, and little freight.

The White Star liner Zeeland will sail on Saturday from Liverpool for Halifax and Portland, Me., with second class and steerage passengers and freight. The French liner Chicago, escorted by destroyers, will depart from Havre on Saturday for this port. The American liner New York will leave Liverpool on Saturday with a large number of passengers, some of whom gave up berths engaged on other liners that fly the British flag.

The commission for relief in Belgium today gave out a list of forty-seven chartered steamships plying between American ports and Rotterdam, through the war zone declared by Germany. A majority of these ships fly the British flag, but the entire fleet is operating under American control and with the full sanction of the German as well as the allied governments.

Blockade Stops Passenger Ships, England to Holland

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, Feb. 18.—1:40 p. m.—The immediate effect of the German submarine blockade of the British isles, beginning today, was to tie up all passenger traffic between England to Holland. The Scandinavian lines, however, have not as yet been affected.

Both the Zeeland and Batavier lines have canceled all passenger service to Holland, although they are continuing their freight and mail traffic. The Wilson line to Scandinavian ports is running as usual.

Sir Edward's reply concerning American complaints of cargo delays was much discussed today but naturally the German proclamation of a naval war zone about the British Isles, effective today, was uppermost in the minds of ship owners and traders. As Germany, however, has for sometime been attempting to sink all British ships with her submarines, her new ultimatum has caused little alarm.

All important shipping companies have announced there will be no change in their regular sailings, and British, French and Belgian owned cross-channel steamers are maintaining their schedules. The Dutch company, which maintains a mail service between Flushing and Folkestone, has suspended sailings and there has been some talk of mail being carried by Dutch destroyers.

There has been no increase in insurance rates and the fact the government actually has reduced rates for fishing vessels, at the same time arranging to compensate sailors who may be injured as the result of hostilities. There has been an increase in coal prices and coal freights, but that is due entirely to increased demand, particularly from Italy and shortage of ships.

The British reply to the American shipping protest is given hearty approval in a Times' editorial, which says:

THE POWERFUL DEFENSE.

"It is a powerful defense of the British position founded upon those arguments of law and fact which appeal with particular force to American minds as to our own. It comes apposite on a day when Germany boasts of her intention to trample all laws and customs of the sea under her feet."

The Post argues that Sir Edward Grey's note already is antiquated because of Winston Spencer Churchill's announcement in parliament that reprisals proposed against the German war zone threat. The Post welcomes it, however, as proving that Sir Edward has come to a realization that war cannot be prosecuted successfully by indulging in ideals.

"Let Germany do her worst," says the Post. She has done the allies' cause excellent service because her threats have destroyed the Declaration of London and Paris and persuaded our government to exercise the full powers of our sea power as it was used in the days of Nelson."

The morning papers unite in expressing warm approval of the British reply. The Daily News says:

"Europe is reeling into barbarism. The fault is not ours, but the position of the Washington government is none the easier for that."

The Telegraph say: "Sir Edward Grey exposes the springs of British policy with a completeness which we believe will carry conviction in America. We hitherto have used the tremendous weapon of sea power with every reasonable restraint, but by Germany's illegal and outrageous acts we stand defeated in our benevolent intention, and now it only remains for the allies to announce the exact character of their measures to increase the economic pressure on the enemy."

Germany's Reply Has Not Yet Reached Washington

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Germany's reply to the American note on the naval war zone around the British isles had not been received today at the state department. Dispatches on other matters from Ambassador Gerard, filed in Berlin yesterday, said he had delivered the American note but that the German reply had not then been delivered to him.

The outline of the German reply contained in news dispatches, commanded close attention in official and diplomatic quarters, but comments were withheld until after the text has been received.

Great Britain's reply to the American protest against interference with neutral commerce, the text of which was given out late yesterday, was another topic of absorbing interest in diplomatic, executive and congressional circles. The British note denied that American ships and cargoes are unduly detained or that detentions have been responsible for depression in American industries. It added that if American commerce is depressed, "the cause ought, in fairness, to be sought elsewhere than in the activities of the British fleet."

The note cited among other causes for slack business, the shortage of shipping facilities, the consequent diminution of the cotton trade and the destruction by mines "laid by the enemy" of many neutral vessels.

While conceding that foodstuffs for a civil population are not contraband, the British note declared that "in any country in which there exists such a tremendous organization for war as obtains in Germany, there is no clear division between those whom the government is responsible for feeding and whom it is not."

The answer also announced Great Britain's intention to retaliate against Germany's submarine campaign.

Secretary Bryan at an early morning conference with President Wilson discussed the neutral shipping situation generally, the British note and the unofficial outline of Germany's answer. The official view was that no element in the situation was critical.

French Claim Further Gains Against Germans

(By Associated Press.)

PARIS, Feb. 18.—The war office today issued the following:

"From the sea to the Oise nothing new was recorded last night.

"It has been confirmed that the successful surprise movement which made us master of the lines of German fighting has been going on in almost the same localities with great ferocity in certain sectors.

KAISER DETERMINED TO CAPTURE WARSAW AND CRUSH RUSSIANS

"In the region of the Niemen river we have found only patrols of the enemy.

"On the left bank of the Vistula there has been no change.

"In Galicia we repulsed an attack on the Khava-Yakrotsch front with great loss to the enemy. Further to the east the enemy endeavored to attack us in the region of Loubne-Stoudenne, but without success. In repelling this attack we made prisoners of ten officers and 1,400 soldiers and captured three guns.

"On the front from Zozlouska to Mount Vyschkoff the Germans delivered a series of determined and spirited attacks, forcing themselves vigorously in the direction of Mount Vyschkoff. All these advances were repulsed with heavy losses to the enemy. Almost an entire battalion was put to the bayonet; the rest of the Germans were made prisoners.

"There is no change in Bukowina."

British Hindu Soldiers at Singapore in Rebellion

TOKIO, Feb. 18.—A revolt has broken out among Hindu soldiers at Singapore, one of Great Britain's strait settlements, according to dispatches from the Malay archipelago. Malays anese and French warships some were landed at Singapore from Japtrenches to the north of Arras, northwest of Rolincourt, inflicted heavy losses on the enemy. We captured a bomb thrower and several hundred bombs.

"In the valley of the Aisne and in the sector of Rheims there have been artillery engagements in which our batteries have had distinctly the advantage.

"In Champagne, in the region of Perthes, all the territory conquered by us yesterday and the day before has been retained. Among the numerous prisoners made by us February 16 and February 17 are found officers and men of the sixth and eighth corps of the active army and of the eighth, tenth and twelfth corps of the reserve army.

"In the Argonne we have also maintained the advances won in the forest of La Grurie, to the south of Fontaine Aux Charmes. Furthermore, we have made some progress in the vicinity of Boureuilles, at Hill No. 263.

"Our success between the Argonne and the Meuse reported in the official communication of the evening of February 17 have made us masters of a forest located to the south of the forest of Cheppy.

"Furthermore we have made an advance of about one hundred yards to the north of Malancourt, and we have made almost as much at a point to the south of the forest De Forges. All these gains have been retained by us.

"From the Meuse to the Vosges there is nothing to report."

Answer to Scandinavian Powers Not Made Public

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 18.—(Via London.)—Germany's reply to the note of the Scandinavian powers on the war zone question has been received, but no announcement has been made regarding its contents.

Netherlands Will Not Send Convoys With Dutch Ships

THE HAGUE, Feb. 18.—(Via London.) The government of the Netherlands has refused a request for war vessels to convoy Dutch merchant ships through the marine areas prescribed by Germany on the ground that such action would enhance the risks of ships without such escorts.

DYSPEPSIA OVERCOME

Tone Up the Stomach with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

When you have dyspepsia your life is miserable. You have a bad taste in your mouth, a tenderness at the pit of your stomach, a feeling of puffy fulness, belching, heartburn, and sometimes nausea.

Dyspepsia is difficult digestion—that is what the word means—and the only way to get rid of it is to give vigor and tone to the stomach and the whole digestive system. Hood's Sarsaparilla, sold by all druggists, is the one medicine which acts on the stomach through the blood and also directly. It beneficial effects are felt at once. Improvement begins immediately.

Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, makes the rich red blood that is needed for perfect digestion, and builds up the whole system. No other medicine can take its place.—(Advt.)

U. D. C. PROTEST REPORT DAVIS WAS CONVICTED

Macon Chapter Labels Report From Baltimore as a "Hydraheaded Falsehood

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

MACON, Ga., Feb. 18.—The Sidney Lanier chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, makes a vigorous denial of the recent dispatch from Baltimore to the effect that Josiah Willard, of that city, claimed to be foreman of the jury that convicted Jefferson Davis of treason. The following resolution was unanimously passed by the Macon chapter:

"Whereas, a certain Josiah Willard is spoken of recently in a special from Baltimore as 'foreman of a jury that convicted Jefferson Davis of treason.'

"And whereas, the time fixed for the trial of Jefferson Davis, May 16, 1867, found him eagerly seeking trial and the government not ready with its case, Mr. Davis was released on bond, given by Horace Greely, Cornelius Vanderbilt and many admirers north and south.

"And whereas, the government, fearing to test the right of secession in the greatest court of the world—the chief justice holding that Mr. Davis was not guilty of treason and Justice Underwood holding that he was—the case was never called and Mr. Davis died a prisoner on bail.

"Therefore be it resolved, That we, the members of the Sidney Lanier chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, do hereby protest against such violations of truth as the statement concerning Josiah Willard, of Maryland, above referred to.

"That the activities of 100,000 Daughters of the Confederacy with chapters in thirty-four states of the union be and are hereby invoked to forever throttle this hydra-headed falsehood.

"That the press of the country in the interest of fair play shall be urged to aid in establishing these truths as well as the fact that Mr. Davis sought repeatedly to secure trial, the services of distinguished lawyers in every part of the country being proffered him.

"That out of the fire and tempest and baptism of blood Mr. Davis came forth with an unblemished reputation.

"Respectfully submitted.

"E. DOROTHY BLOUNT LAMAR,
"President United Daughters of the Confederacy."

"WHERE IS THY BROTHER" SUBJECT OF DR. CHAPMAN

Evangelist Sweeps Audience to Powerful Climax in Masterful Sermon

"Where is Abel, thy brother?"

Like the solemn and awful voice seeking Cain through the Garden of Eden, Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman at the Chapman-Alexander revival Wednesday night hurled the challenge at an audience of more than 5,000 people.

"Where is thy brother?" he demanded of parents who "claim to follow Christ but let your children go from day to day and year to year without a word of spiritual admonition."

"Where is thy brother?" he demanded of church members "who profess Christianity yet never invite your associates into the kingdom."

"Where is thy brother?" he demanded of the preachers.

"You go up into your pulpits, and you read from your Bibles, and you deliver your sermons," he said. "You preach professionally. You preach indifferently. Why don't you ask your congregations about the welfare of their souls?"

Like all of Dr. Chapman's sermons up to the present stage of the revival, he preached not to the unsaved but to those who profess religion.

"Suppose when you leave this tabernacle tonight you see a blind man attempting to cross the street," he said. "Crowds throng the sidewalk. Street cars and automobiles are rushing by. The blind man feels his way to the curb. He steps into the street. Fear stops him. 'Won't somebody help me across?' he cries. You see him and hear him, yet you do not help him. You let him attempt the crossing alone. An automobile strikes him, or a street car crushes him under its iron wheels. You have let him die. What are you?"

"A NOT UNDERSTAND.

Dr. Chapman paused. There was dead silence.

"What are you?" and his voice rang through the tabernacle in a dreadful accusation.

Perspiration streamed from his face. He took off his glasses, mopped his brow with a handkerchief, dried his glasses, and put them on again.

"For the life of me I cannot understand," he continued in a quiet voice, "why the average man or woman will exhibit such solicitude for the physical welfare of a person whom they do not know perhaps, even to the point often of risking their lives, and yet will be indifferent to the welfare of a human soul.

"Daniel Webster once said that the greatest question for a man to consider was his relationship to God," said Dr. Chapman, beginning his sermon.

"That being true, the second greatest question for every man is contained in the words of our text, 'Where is thy brother?'

"There are boys and girls in Atlanta whom the preachers cannot reach, whom the evangelist cannot stir, because of the inconsistent Christianity they see in their homes." Dr. Chapman told a story of a young man who refused to listen to Billy Sunday when asked about his soul. Telling Sunday that neither his father nor his mother had ever asked him to become a Christian, and that he never intended to accept the gospel until they did.

"I never change my message," he continued. "I preach the same sermons to the rich and the poor, to the uneducated and to the scholarly, because the human heart is the same and its ache and yearning is the same, wherever you find it. It is a shameful thing that a man should believe in Jesus and never bring his fellow men and never invite them to the kingdom, never talk to them, never warn them.

"My theory is that any man, no matter how hardened in sin, if approached in the right way and asked about his soul will listen. A distinguished citizen of Atlanta, when I held a revival in this city some years ago, came to me and said he was going to quit his business for a day and try my theory. He came back to me. He said he had walked the streets and spoken to seventy-five men, and that he had been rebuked by no one. I am not speaking of religious fanaticism. If I were a busy business man I would not want you to come into my office and interrupt me to ask me about my soul. But if you were a Christian, and you were my friend, and if on some quiet occasion you did ask that question with coming spiritual things, I would become skeptical of your Christianity and I would doubt the sincerity of your friendship.

PERSONAL WORK.

"Why should it be necessary to preach to you ministers about personal work?" Here Dr. Chapman told a story of two men drowning in the sea on the coast of England, while the life savers called the harbor authorities and the harbor authorities called the police and the police called somebody else.

"Because," and Dr. Chapman's voice thundered, "there is too much red tape in the church."

In the house a number of ministers seated near the rostrum bowed their heads and murmured fervently, "God help us."

"There is too much red tape in the church," the evangelist went on. "The parent looks to the minister. The minister looks to the evangelist."

He paused again.

"Where is my brother?

"Oh, God, the kind of a revival we need in Atlanta is one that comes through personal work. One reason there is so little personal work is because of the mistaken idea that people are delicate on the subject that they draw away when you speak to them about their souls. I have been preaching since 1881, and I have preached to many lands, and only once in that long time have I been rebuked when asking a man about his soul.

WARNS PARENTS.

"Friends, I warn you, your children are in danger!

"Ministers, I warn you, your congregations are in danger.

"You say, 'I'll speak to my boy tomorrow.' In the middle of the night your wife awakens you, and in a frightened voice she says to you, 'Husband, our boy is ill.' You run to the telephone and call your physician. He comes. He looks at your boy. He calls you into another room. He cannot meet your eyes. There is an awful look upon his face. He says to you—

"Ah, God! He says to you, as he said it to me when he looked at my boy. Listen to what he says: 'In—thirty—minutes—your—boy—will—be—dead.'

As he uttered the words, pausing between each word, Dr. Chapman's voice sank to a horror-stricken whisper which could be heard throughout the building, so breathless was the silence of the vast audience. His face was terrible in its expression of grief and alarm. His breathing could be heard in labored gasps. The stillness was like that of people in the presence of death.

And in the midst of this awful hush he called out again the question with which God sought Cain through the garden:

"Where is thy brother?"

Then, while men and women sat with downcast eyes, while children moved uneasily in their seats and looked questioningly from their parents to the evangelist and back to their parents, while the audience was held motionless in the grip of the climax, Dr. Chapman spoke again:

"Stand up and say who your brother is, and promise that you will speak to him."

The pastor of a big Atlanta church rose in front of the rostrum.

"My church," he said, and sat down with his hands over his face, his lips moving.

A woman rose.

"My boy," and in her cry was all the infinite tenderness of a mother's love.

Another rose.

"My husband," she sobbed.

A man rose, in the choir.

"My wife," he said, his voice husky with emotion.

Another man rose.

"Myself and my family."

All over the house they stood up—preachers, church officers, parents, husbands, wives—unburdened their souls in short, hoarse words, and sat down and wept.

And while they were weeping Dr. Chapman pronounced the benediction.

ALEXANDER'S Songs and Stories

You Must Do Something To-night.

"What shall I do then with Jesus which is called Christ?"—Matt. 27: 22.

ROBERT HARKNESS.

STORY OF THE SONG.

"You Must Do Something Tonight" is plainly an invitation hymn. It invites you to accept Jesus Christ as your personal Saviour. It asks a question which must be answered by each one of us. The question has only two answers—will you reject, or will you accept? If you do not accept Him, then you are rejecting Him. There is no neutral ground.

Many of Mr. Harkness' songs which have become popular have been written while the sermon was being preached. "You Must Do Something Tonight" was written in this way. It was composed in Philadelphia one evening, while Dr. Chapman was preaching. The verse was suggested by the different points in Dr. Chapman's sermon on that occasion. He was preaching along the lines of decision for Christ, and among other thing he said: "You must be for or against Christ; confess or deny Him, accept or reject Him." In order to give the hymn finality Mr. Harkness wrote the last verse, "With God there is no tomorrow," of his own initiative. The music came in the same way as the words, and the song has been used with marked success in the United States, England, Canada and Australia.

REVIVAL SIDELIGHTS

"I count it one of the very greatest honors of my life," said Dr. Chapman proudly, to a group of friends at the Tabernacle, "that in the city where my father had been a rich man, I became a newsboy. I count it one of the very greatest things I can say that when it became necessary to drive a milk wagon and served with milk my mother's old-time social friends. And, more than that, I tell my children with a great deal of satisfaction that when it became necessary I drove a coal wagon through the streets of the city where I had lived in the best house.

"I have a perfect right, therefore, to speak about poverty, for I know what it is."

Dr. Chapman considers Mr. Alexander the greatest song leader the world has ever known. He was asked to explain when music is a "power in religion."

"It is when the musician who is in charge of the music of the church has the conception of his work that Mr. Alexander has," replied Dr. Chapman. "Mr. Alexander does not do anything for the sake of doing it. He does not have a little girl stand up and sing a song just to have the child sing, but he is using the audience into one—making it one person. I think we work together like the right hand and the left hand. One man's ministry fits perfectly into the other. Mr. Alexander's spirit and mine are the same."

Some of the members of the revival party are expert tennis players. W. W. Rock, secretary to Mr. Alexander, is the "champion" of the party. He's an Australian and, naturally, thinks tennis the greatest game ever. He wields the racquet out at East Lake each brighday, with Henry Barraclough, the pianist, and Albert Brown, the soloist. As soon as Brown gets a little more practice, he says he's going to battle with Rock for "first honors."

There are approximately 800 personal workers organized in connection with the revival and being trained under the direction of Ralph C. Norton. The latter is a "specialist" in this work and has traveled around the world with the Chapman-Alexander forces. Each day sees him in conference with his helpers, pointing out the methods of winning men and women for Christ through personal persuasion.

There are eleven feet, four inches of "Browns" in the Chapman-Alexander revival party. Albert Brown, the English soloist, has made such a deep impression because of his remarkable voice, stands six feet four inches in his stocking feet. The other Brown—Rev. Benjamin M.—is just five feet in height. The "long and short" of the revival campaign, the two have been dubbed.

Dr. Chapman has announced a special meeting for women next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. He wants every woman—young and old—in Atlanta to come to the service at which he will make a talk of special interest to them. Mr. Alexander will be on hand as usual to direct the singing and hope mothers and fathers they cannot come to the session because of having children to take care of. Dr. Chapman extends an invitation to have the youngsters brought to the First Baptist church, just opposite the tabernacle, in Peachtree street, where there will be opened a "baby check room." A special committee of Atlanta ladies have volunteered to take care of the children while their mothers are at service.

Dr. Chapman is looking for a sweet-faced old woman who, he declares, was largely responsible for the success of the meetings here several years ago. He was introduced to her by the late Governor Northen, and to her constant prayers for five years previous the revival was due in large measure the success of the meetings, says Dr. Chapman.

The wives of the evangelists are going to "get busy" this week among the business women of Atlanta and among the society folk. Thursday morning, at the home of Mrs. J. A. Orme, 912 Peachtree street, there will be a "parlor meeting" at which Mrs. Chapman will preside and Mrs. Alexander will talk.

"Where do you get your hymns?" someone asked Mr. Alexander.

"From the wide world—here, there and everywhere," answered the singing evangelist. "From all sorts of people and from all kinds of places. I received through the mails the music of 'Will There Be Any Stars In My Crown?' and it has become the great invitation song. I also got 'Don't Stop Praying' through the mail. The sender told me she had had a very great trouble. She prayed for help, but it did not seem to be forthcoming. Still she kept praying and one morning, at breakfast, she opened a letter that lifted the whole trouble from her. She was so convinced that her faith had been justified that before she got up from the table she wrote the words and music of 'Don't Stop Praying' almost exactly as they stand today."

ATLANTA ASKED TO HELP PEOPLE OF PALESTINE

Supplies of Food Are Being Collected in This Country for Starving Population

The people of Palestine are starving, and Atlantians, with thousands of other Americans, have been asked to help.

Rabbi David Marx has received a telegram from the American Jewish Relief committee in which it is stated the United States government has granted the committee space for 900 tons of food supplies on the navy vessel Vulcan, which sails for Jaffa on March 4. Part of these supplies will be collected in Atlanta.

Isaac Haas is in charge of the Atlanta collections, and has asked the public for donations of flour, sugar, rice, tea, coffee or cash contributions. It is necessary for them to be given within the next five days in order to get on board the Vulcan. Packages should be packed in bags and stencilled "For United States Consul, Jerusalem, to be landed at Jaffa," and addressed to Representative American Jewish Relief committee, on board United States steamer Vulcan, care storekeeper navy yard, Philadelphia. Mr. Haas may be reached over Main 25 or Atlanta phone 25, and will send for packages which cannot be brought to his office.

HISTORICAL PLATE GIVEN PRESIDENTIAL COLLECTION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18.—Miss Mary Custis Lee, daughter of General Robert E. Lee, has presented to Miss Margaret Wilson for the White House collection of presidential chinaware a plate of the George Washington Cincinnati dinner set. It is one of a set presented to General and Mrs. Washington by American officers of the Society of the Cincinnati, formed at Annapolis in 1783 by American and French officers who served together in the revolution and which had General Washington as its first president.

The plate, considered in many respects the most valuable piece in the collection because it has more historical associations and is better known than any of the Washington relics, is of Cantonese ware with deep blue mottled border and gold lines and bearing in the center the figure of Fame with a trumpet to her lips and holding aloft the insignia of the Society of the Cincinnati.

Before I commenced taking Cardui, I had headache so bad, I would have to stay in bed for days at a time. I suffered untold misery with my heart and back.

I saw Cardui advertised and decided to try it. I took three bottles. After taking the first bottle, I could see a vast difference in my feelings, and decided to take the second, and took three in all.

After taking the third bottle, I felt like a new woman altogether, and I will always praise Cardui as a boon to woman's life.

I believe it saved my life and I am now a well, healthy woman, and my husband joins me in my praise for Cardui.

Before I began taking Cardui, I was irregular, but since I began taking it, I have been regular and without any pain.

Everyone tells me I am the picture of health since taking Cardui. I will recommend it to every suffering woman."

OH! THAT AWFUL BACKACHE IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

An unhealthy body, and the unhappiness and misery which follow, may be prevented by ordinary judgment and care. Keep your stomach and kidneys in shape and you will have good health. The kidneys' work is to throw off the poisonous matters which enter the body; if they perform this work regularly and automatically the other organs will take care of themselves.

Diseased conditions of the bladder or kidneys are indicated by nervousness, sleeplessness, that tired, worn-out feeling, dizziness, nausea, backache, lumbago, rheumatism, pain in the lower abdomen, many so-called "female troubles," severe pain and discomfort when urinating, bloody, cloudy and stringy urine, too frequent or suppressed passages. All these are nature's signals to warn you of diseased kidneys or bladder, which may lead to fatal Bright's disease.

Don't wait until the danger is upon you. Go to your druggist at once. Get a trial box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. They are made of the pure, original, imported Haarlem Oil, the kind your great-grandfather used. About two capsules each day will keep you toned up and feeling fine. Money refunded if they do not help you. But remember to ask for the imported GOLD MEDAL brand. In sealed packages, 25c, 50c and $1.00. (Advt.)

SIDE MEETINGS HELD IN CONNECTION WITH REVIVAL

Services Are Conducted in the Railroad Shops, Freight Offices and Other Places

In connection with the Chapman-Alexander revival now in progress at the temporary tabernacle on Peachtree street a number of "side" meetings are being held. These meetings are being arranged by Secretary Waggoner, of the Railroad Young Men's Christian association, who is chairman of the "unusual services" committee.

These "unusual services" so far consist of four noon meetings each week in railroad shops, four each week in freight offices and three each week at the Battle Hill sanitarium. Six of these meetings have already been held and they had a total attendance of 454. Members of the evangelistic party who are assisting at these meetings are W. W. Rock, R. C. Norton, Rev. B. M. Brown and Mr. Brown, the soloist.

The meetings will continue throughout the revival campaign. They are being held at the Southern railway shops on Windsor street and at Inman Yards, the Western and Atlantic shops, the Southern iron and Equipment company shops, the Atlanta Joint Terminals agency, the Southern railway freight offices, the Central of Georgia freight offices, the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad freight offices, the Seaboard Air Line railroad freight offices and at the Battle Hill sanitarium. Interest and enthusiasm are characterizing these meetings.

Arrangements are being made for a railroad men's mass meeting at the tabernacle next Monday evening. All members of various brotherhoods and railroad employes generally are urgently invited to attend this meeting and to bring their wives and children. Special musical programs are being prepared for the occasion and Dr. Chapman will preach a special sermon.

BAYLOR SAYS HARDWICK SUPPORTS SHIPPING TRUST

Accuses Senator of Violating Pledges and Deserting Party Leader

H. B. Bayler, the well known political enthusiast of San Souci Castle, No. 42 Bedford Place, delivered a speech Wednesday night at the foot of Grady monument in criticism of Senator Thomas W. Hardwick's opposition to the ship purchase bill.

He accused the senator of violating his pledge to the people of Georgia, of deserting the leader of his party, and of throwing his support to the shipping trust.

"While Dr. Chapman, the evangelist, is crying, 'Where is Abel, my brother?' said Mr. Bayler, I ask you, 'Where is Hardwick, our senator?' "

DESTRUCTOR COMPANY ASKS $30,329 MORE

The Destructor company Thursday filed a supplementary bill in the federal court amending its suit against the city of Atlanta by asking that it be allowed an additional amount of $30,329.16, which it alleges is due it for extra expenses and damages accruing by reason of the city's delay in testing the crematory built by the plaintiff. This additional amount, it is claimed, was due up to January 1, 1915.

The original suit of the Destructor company against the city asks $135,000, which it claims is still due on the purchase price of the crematory.

MISSING YOUTH BELIEVED MENTALLY UNBALANCED

Fletcher Thigpen Is Thought to Be Suffering From Effects of Accident

Mental unbalance caused by a terrific shock he received over two months ago, is believed by friends to be responsible for the mysterious disappearance of Fletcher Thigpen, the nineteen-year-old youth who left his home at 129 Connally street Tuesday afternoon and has not been seen or heard from since.

Young Thigpen, a member of Company B, Fifth regiment, an employe of the Morris Fertilizer office in the Third National bank, well known and popular among a wide circle of friends, was almost drowned in the Chattahoochee river on the night of December 6, Sunday.

At 4 o'clock that afternoon he left two friends sitting on the trestle over Peachtree creek near No. 1 pumping station to go back into the woods and cut a cane. He was not seen again until late at night, when county policemen, called in to search, found him wandering in delirium through the woods several miles away.

When he regained his faculties, he said he had slipped near the river bank, fallen into the water, climbed on some logs, and floated, half-dazed, for a mile down the stream. Then he was swept ashore and roamed for seven hours through thickets and lakes before encountering the officers.

Since that day Thigpen, apparently, has been all right again. Then, Tuesday afternoon, he disappeared. His mother, Mrs. Maggie Thigpen, has heard no word from him. She believes that he either has been dealt with foully or that mental unbalance occasioned by his fall into the river has caused him to wander away.

She has asked the aid of the police and the public to help her find her boy. He is described as weighing about 140 pounds, with dark brown eyes, dark hair and a gold tooth. When he left home he wore a dark blue suit striped with white, a tan overcoat, tan shoes, dark hat with white band, and a red necktie. Any news of Thigpen may be given to his mother by telephoning Main 2498-L, or Atlanta phone 4871.

YOUNG DENIES CLAIMS IN SUIT AGAINST HIM

Declares He Doesn't Owe Manhattan Life Insurance Company a Penny

M. B. Young, of Atlanta, former general agent of the Manhattan Life Insurance Company of New York, against whom a suit for $8,000 and odd dollars was filed by the company in the United States district court a few days ago, made a statement Thursday, in which he denies that he owes the company a dollar.

"I owe the company not one cent," he said, "but on the contrary they owe me several thousand dollars which I am going to make them pay.

"They violated their agency contract with me in four different particulars, and on January 1 appointed another agent in my place without notifying me and without paying me what they owed me.

"Immediately I placed certain funds to their credit in Atlanta banks in such shape that they could not draw them out until my claims were satisfied.

"That is why they are suing. They want this money. But when I get through with them they'll not only pay me, but will be glad to settle."

CITIZENS WILL PROTEST REMOVAL OF CONVICTS

Think Present Camp South of City Should Not Be Moved

A number of owners of property in Fulton county north of Atlanta, including residents of the city and of the country, met in the office of the Burdett Realty company Thursday morning and organized to make a protest to the county commissioners next Saturday morning against the removal of 40 convicts from the Sandy Springs camp to the south of the city.

The fact was brought out that of the county's 60 convicts, these 40 are the only force north of the city except for a small force at Wheuca camp which already have been ordered moved to Utoy camp, south of the city.

It was the sense of the meeting that a fair distribution of the public work between the southern and northern section of the county would certainly sugest that some convicts be kept north of the city.

Among those present at the meeting were Judge Spencer R. Atkinson, Judge B. F. Burdett, General Clifford L. Anderson, J. L. Riley, F. J. Coolidge, John Heard and a number of property owners who live outside of the city.

General Anderson was elected chairman of the meeting and delegated to present the protest to the board.

LYRIC THEATER TO REOPEN AS MOTION PICTURE HOUSE

Admission Will Be 25 Cents With Only Two Performances Daily

The Lyric theater, which has been dark for the past ten weeks, will reopen March 1, it was learned Monday, as a motion picture house.

This announcement was made Thursday by Hugh Cardoza, who has been directed by Jake Wells to take over the local management of both the Grand theater and the Lyric. The Grand will continue to show motion pictures at 5 cents admission.

The Lyric will show only the highest class of motion pictures. Admission will be 25 cents, and only two performances a day will be given, a matinee and a night performance. Admission will be by coupon, just as it legitimate playhouses. For the first week Manager Cardoza has booked "Hypocrites," a Bosworth film, with Lois Weber as the star, which is described as one of the most elaborate productions of the screen. Mr. Cardoza plans in succeeding weeks to show Mary Pickford releases and such pictures as Hall Caine's "The Eternal City," now in the making.

IF HAIR IS TURNING GRAY, USE SAGE TEA

Here's Grandmother's Recipe to Darken and Beautify Faded Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, streaked and dull, you look old and scraggly, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color, thickness and luster of your hair, remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant.—(Advt.)

LOGICAL DYSPEPSIA TREATMENT

Importance of Eliminating Acidity and Food Fermentation

During the past two or three years reports have frequently appeared in the Press concerning the remarkable value of bisurated magnesia as an antacid; and its ability to promote normal, healthy digestion by preventing food fermentation and neutralizing dangerous stomach acid has often been demonstrated. Until recently druggists could supply bisurated magnesia in powder form only, from one to two teaspoonfuls of which, taken in a little water after meals, almost instantly stops all fermentation and neutralizes acid, but sufferers from stomach troubles will be glad to learn that, after a long series of experiments, a leading firm of manufacturing druggists has now succeeded in producing a 5-grain tablet which combines all the valuable antacid properties of the ordinary bisurated magnesia in a very convenient form. This new tablet of bisurated magnesia can now be obtained of druggists everywhere and many physicians are already prescribing them instead of the powder form.—(Advt.)

WOMAN RESENTS FINE FOR FIRING REVOLVER

Mrs. Ada T. Ralls, Suffragist, Denounces Court When Fined $25.75 by Recorder

"There is no justice in Atlanta courts! They ride roughshod over woman's rights and refuse to protect her from trespassers!" angrily cried Mrs. Ada T. Ralls, suffragist, after Recorder Johnson had fined her $25.75 Thursday morning for discharging a pistol next door to her home, 33 Irwin street, which is in the city limits.

"I've been very lenient indeed with you," answered the recorder, but Mrs. Ralls continued her criticism of Georgia's judicial system until she passed out of the court room.

Oscar Carden, of 287 Edgewood avenue, the complainant in the case, testified that he and a negro laborer had gone to an outhouse next door to Mrs. Ralls' home Tuesday to cart away some goods he had stored there with Mrs. Ralls' permission. While he and the negro were in the outhouse, he stated, a pistol shot sounded outside and a bullet whistled past his ear. Then they ran. As the negro expressed it: "I heered somebody callin' me, jedge."

"I heard my little dog barking," Mrs. Ralls told the court, "so I got my pistol and went outdoors to see what was the matter. This man was taking away his stuff from my outhouse. Before he did that, I wanted him to pay some rent. So I shot just to scare him. I didn't shoot at him, I shot at a tree. The next thing I saw were two streaks going down the street. They were Mr. Carden and the negro."

"You mustn't take the law into your own hands," the recorder told Mrs. Ralls. "But I'll fine you instead of binding you over."

Whereupon Mrs. Ralls began her denunciation of justice as dispensed to Atlanta women, in the course of which she mentioned that she held her suffragist meeting at her house Tuesday night just the same and that if Mr. Carden or anybody else came trespassing around any more she would uphold woman's rights at the pistol point in spite of the courts.

OLD-TIME "NEWSIES" CRY PAPERS FOR CHARITY

Men Who Have Risen to High Positions Aid Fund for Unemployed

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—A hundred and fifty Chicagoans who have risen to social, professional and financial distinction turned the clock back from twenty to fifty years today and sold newspapers again as they did when boys.

It was "Old Newsboys' Day." Funds received through the sale of papers will be devoted to the relief of the unemployed through the agency of the municipal industrial commission.

Scores of the old-time "newsies" offered unique attractions at their street corner stands to increase sales. Some returned to customers.

MAKE GOOD USE OF THOSE "EYE GATES"

Many Things Heard and Read That Are Not Appreciated Until Seen

It has long been said that "seeing is believing." The ear is not to be depended upon. It could be committed for heresy at any time. It cannot believe all it hears and on that account often takes the wrong side of the question. It is never quite sure of anything. But the eye sees and knows. It seldom errs. It is accurate. Its judgment is dependable. The things which make the deepest impression on the mind are those that are seen; things that pass to the mind through the "eye gate" are not soon forgotten, and the "eye gate" becomes the main channel of information.

The pioneer of all learning is the eye. Young and old alike ask questions about what they see. Publishers of modern literature take advantage of this and use illustrations, so that the main points of the story or article may be impressed upon the minds of readers through the "eye gates" and thus be permanently established.

In selecting a Bible to present to its readers The Journal found several that set up the claim of being illustrated, but, upon investigation, they were shown to merely contain "pictures" placed at random in the volume. In the illustrated Bible which we selected every illustration is in its place. Besides being in its place, it accurately and appropriately portrays the subject matter which it accompanies and makes clear and illuminates it—gives to it an added interest and an educational value. It matters not how many or what kind of Bibles you may have in your home, the illustrations in The Journal Bible give to it an individuality that at once makes it the only real reference book in any collection of Bibles.

The Illustrated Bible distributed by The Journal is bound in genuine limp leather, stamped in gold, printed in large readable type on a fine quality of paper. It contains educational helps, marginal references, self-pronouncing text and colored maps. With the 600 magnificent illustrations which were prepared for this work at an expense of $50,000, are also full-page plates from the world-famous Tissot collection, so it becomes a work of art not to be excelled.

For a short time The Journal will distribute this grand educational work to its readers, and everybody in Atlanta and vicinity should avail themselves of this rare opportunity. The educational certificate is printed elsewhere in today's issue. Clip it now, before you forget it.

PULLMAN COMPANY PAYS $73,385 TAX INCREASE

Curtailment of Expenses Entitles State to Larger Tax Return

An increase of $73,385 in its tax returns has been made to Comptroller General W. A. Wright by the Pullman company, of Chicago, which operates thousands of sleeping, dining and palace cars over the railroads of the United States. This increase was made despite the fact that the company's net income in 1914 was $372,968.58 less than it was for the previous year.

The company explained that while its gross receipts had fallen off about $20,000,000 its expenses had been curtailed in about the same amount and the fact that it had supplanted the old wooden cars with modern steel coaches and the further fact that it had decreased its mileage throughout the country entitled the state to a larger tax return.

Last year the Pullman company's tax returns to Georgia were $850,766. This year they are $924,151. Last year the mileage of the company's cars was 205,196 as against 198,814 this year. The decrease of mileage in Georgia has been 89.5 miles. The company's mileage in this state now is 2,308.2 as compared to 2,397.7 a year ago.

In 1913 the company's gross income was $85,670,403.93; expenses, $74,602,137.50; net income, $11,068,266.43. Last year its gross income was $65,610,238.97; expenses, $54,914,940.16; net income, $10,695,397.85.

PERSONS CONFIDENT OF PRESIDENCY OF SENATE

Senator Elect Says He Has 28 Votes Out of 44 Already Pledged to Him

Ogden Persons, of Forsyth, candidate for president of the state senate, who has been in Atlanta for several days on legal business, is of the type of clean-cut, progressive young men, who believe that anything worth having is worth going after with a persistent determination to get it.

Soon after he was overwhelmingly elected to the state senate from the twenty-second district last fall Mr. Persons, yielding to the suggestion of a number of friends, decided to offer for the presidency of the senate. Having decided to become a candidate he didn't just sit down and wait for things to come his way, but he immediately began an active and vigorous campaign for the office with the result that up to the present time he has interviewed all but about a dozen of the forty-four members of the senate and has taken a number of trips to distant counties to confer personally with senators-elect.

Discussing his campaign Tuesday, Mr. Persons declared he is confident of election. He said he had promises of support from twenty-eight senators, of which number eighteen had voluntarily given him written pledges. Only twenty-three votes are necessary to elect, and if Mr. Persons "hope" is correct he already has five votes to the good.

Mr. Persons has had legislative experience, having served two terms—from 1907 to 1910—in the house. He was the author of the present convict parole law, and was also the author of the constitutional amendment making it possible for rural schools in the state to teach agricultural and high school subjects. While in the legislature he was elected by the Georgia Teachers' association to introduce all its remedial legislation, affecting the schools of the state. He was chairman of the committee on constitutional amendments and was a member of several other important house committees.

At one time Mr. Persons was judge of the city court of Forsyth. He is a prominent attorney and financier and was one of the original organizers and directors of the Farmers' National bank of Forsyth.

So far as known Mr. Persons is the only candidate who is making an active campaign for the presidency of the senate, although Judge B. F. McLaughlin, of Greenville, and Dr. A. S. J. Stovall, of Elberton have been frequently mentioned as probable candidates. It has also been predicted in some quarters that C. B. McCrory, of Ellaville, may be a candidate.

MRS. CRAIG'S FUNERAL HELD THURSDAY MORNING

Widow of Former Atlanta Minister Will Be Buried in Calhoun, S. C.

The funeral of Mrs. Lydia Brevard Harris Craig, who died Wednesday at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Maude C. Matthews, 112 Crogan street, was held at 10 o'clock Thursday morning at the residence, and the body was taken to Calhoun, S. C., for interment. The officiating ministers were Dr. William E. Boggs and her pastor, Rev. Richard Orme Flinn, of the North Avenue Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Craig was in her seventy-fourth year. She was a native of Mecklenburg county, N. C., where her family was old and prominent. Her mother was Miss Mary Barringer, daughter of General Paul Barringer and Elizabeth Brandon.

In February, 1862, Mrs. Craig was married to the late Rev. Dr. Lewis Newton Craig, of Augusta county, Va., for nearly forty years a prominent minister in the southern Presbyterian church. Mrs. Craig and her husband did devoted work during his ministries at Lancaster, S. C., Holly Springs, Miss., Baltimore, Md., and Atlanta.

Since the death of Dr. Craig in 1900, Mrs. Craig has lived at Charlotte, N. C., coming to her daughter's home in Atlanta a few months ago. She is survived by one son, Dr. Newton Craig, of Atlanta; and two daughters, Mrs. Matthews, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Richard Brackett, of Clemson, S. C.

DRUG STORE IS LOOTED AT 461 EDGEWOOD AVE.

6,000 Packages of Cigarettes, 10 Boxes of Cigars and $26 in Cash Taken

Burglars who entered the drug and cigar store of Dr. T. H. Harris, 461 Edgewood avenue, Wednesday night, carefully cut out the large plate glass window in front and deposited it on the sidewalk without breaking it.

Entering the store, they secured 2,000 packages of five-cent cigarettes, 2,000 packages of ten-cent cigarettes, 10 boxes of cigars, a carton of smoking tobacco, and $26 from the cash register. It is believed they used a wagon in which to cart away the loot.

W. T. Barrow, son of Dr. Barrow, discovered the burglary while on his way to Dr. Barrow's other store on Decatur street early Thursday morning and informed the police. The plate glass window he found lying on the sidewalk undamaged.

VILLA HAS 145,000 MEN IN ARMY, HIS AGENT SAYS

Col. P. S. Titus, Visiting Here, Will Spend $6,000,000 for Munitions of War

"The army of General Francisco Villa is now composed of 145,000 well equipped, well fed and comfortably clothed men," declares Colonel P. S. Titus, one of the Mexican leader's representatives in the United States.

Colonel Titus is spending a few days in Atlanta, visiting John S. Mabry, chairman of the Kimball hotel. Colonel Titus states he is in the United States to arrange the purchase of $6,000,000 worth of field guns and other munitions of war, which will be transported to the military bases of the Villa army within the next six weeks.

Colonel Titus says the Villa army is backed by 500 big guns, stationed at strategic points, and the entire army is well supplied with ammunition.

"Carranza is practically bottled up," he says, "and will never get far from Vera Cruz, where he now has a ship waiting to take him to the refuge of other unscrupulous Mexican dictators."

Colonel Titus defends Villa, declaring he has only ordered executions, where they were absolutely necessary. Villa, he says, is the only true friend of the United States among the Mexican leaders.

LOU CASTRO TO PLAY IN "UNCLE TOM"; BUT EXPURGATED EDITION

Ex-Ball Player and Comedian Prefers to Play Little Eva or a Bloodhound but Takes Auctioneer's Role to Oblige

"Oh, well, I'll do it this time, for an old pal," said Lou Castro, after due consideration. "What do I play? Little Eva, Simon Legree or one of the bloodhounds? I've played 'em all in one evening, on the Ypsilanti-Oshkosh circuit."

"You'll be the auctioneer," suggested Walter Baldwin, veteran stock company manager, checking off the cast for "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which he will present next week at the Atlanta theater. "You put Uncle Tom and the rest of the slaves on the block and auctioneer 'em off. You've got a great voice for that role."

"Oh, I can sell 'em," acmitted Lou. "Once when we stranded with 'East Lynne' in Piqua, Ohio, I auctioned off a three-story building and raised get-away money. I've always wondered who owned that building, and what happened afterward. But I'd lot's rather play Legree. He's the boy that gets the gallleries going. It's next to umpiring a ball game in the Sally league with the home team losing. Maybe we do play 'Uncle Tom' without a net? My accident insurance has run out."

"No danger! No danger, whatever, I assure you," said Mr. Baldwin. "I explained that thoroughly to a committee of ladies from the Daughters of the Confederacy who called yesterday to protest.

"'Ladies,' I said, jut like that. 'Ladies. I will stake my reputation as theatrical manager and producer for twenty years, a reputation as unsullied as a dove, that not one word or line of offensive to the beauty and chivalry of the old south shall be uttered upon my stage. You may send a committee to the first performance, and if you find an offensive line, I'll forfeit $500, in real money.'

"'Why, ladies,' I told the committee. 'Who is the villain of Uncle Tom's Cabin? Simon Legree, a northern man, the hired overseer! Who is the shining character of the piot? St. Clair, a plantation gentleman and planter! Where is there a more beautiful or touching picture of ante-bellum days than the children, both of little Eva and venerable Uncle Tom? Why, ladies, we played Uncle Tom's Cabin in New Orleans, that hot-bed of secessionist aristocracy, for five weeks, and we turned 'em away, ladies, we turned 'em away.'"

"I knew you'd fought hard for position or two, Lou, played baseball, umpired, done a bit in vaudeville and been a successful funeral director," commented a friend in the group around the table. "But I never knew you were a real actor."

"Who, me?" retorted Mr. Castro, in surprise. "Why, I've played everything from 'Hamlet' to 'Camille.' I was in the chorus of the original Black Crook company before I lost my figure. And as for Tom shows, I've done everything in 'em, from Topsy to a cake of ice. Used to beat the bass drum in the parade, stick up three-sheets, distribute handbills, take tickets at the door, black up, go on as one of the Uncle Toms—we had three Toms, three Evas and a couple of Topsys in that show—take a quick wash-up and close as an angel in the death scene. And when our biggest bloodhound choked to death trying to eat a wooden turkey the manager skinned him, sewed me in the hide and made me chase Eliza across the ice on all fours. Ah, those were happy days."

So it's all settled that "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be the bill next week, and Manager Baldwin thinks Atlanta will really enjoy seeing the old classic which has so seldom been seen south of Mason and Dixon's line. He believes that fifty years of friendship between the sections should be enough to make the old play stand on its merits as a melodrama, with nobody taking it as an attack on the south.

The protest of the Daughters of the Confederacy brought about a conference between Mr. Baldwin and Mayor Woodward, who had been besought by Miss Alice Baxter, of the Daughters, to forbid the show. But the mayor is liberal in his views, and after gaining a promise that some of the "slave driving" episodes in the play should be toned down and certain objectionable lines eliminated, he saw no reason why the play should not be produced. And the management is counting on the biggest audiences of the season.

The Doctor's Advice

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character. The symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Bldg., Dayton, O., personally, self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. No prescriptions will be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Young Woman:" "For several years I have doctored for distressing stomach symptoms, such as sour stomach, belching, accumulations of gas, heartburn, dizziness after eating, sleeplessness, coated tongue, bad breath, inertia, and I am getting thin and weak, my complexion is poor, and so far have not been improved by the medicines I have taken."

Answer: Your need is medicine to aid digestion, overcome dyspepsia and tone up the stomach, liver and bowels. I advise you to take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. They are prepared and sold in sealed packets, by druggists, with complete directions.

Miss Adele writes: "My hair is coming out, my scalp itches and dandruff is very annoying, and I want something to cure these conditions."

Answer: For hair and scalp troubles I have never found anything to equal the beneficial results of a thorough treatment of plain yellow mirpol. It is cooling, cleansing and invigorating, and thousands now use it regularly as a hair and scalp tonic.

Henry J. C. writes: "Something seems to be wrong with my system and I don't know what to do. I have no appetite, sick headaches, my eyes are bloodshot in morning and my feet and ankles are swollen. Sometimes I have chills and feel weak and tired most of the time."

Answer: Your eliminating organs, such as liver and kidneys, are in need of treatment. Begin taking bolinwort tablets at once. Get them in sealed packages with full directions of any well-stocked druggist.

C. M. C. asks: "Please relieve me of a coated tongue, foul breath, headache, constipation and general ill health."

Answer: If habitually constipated, you should take three-grain sulphets tablets (not sulphuric) and arouse the organs which eliminate waste material from your body. These tablets purify the blood and improve the health by acting on the liver, kidneys and bowels. Obtain in sealed tubes with full directions.

"Sarah" says: "Can anything be done for one who is bothered with rheumatism? If so, please reply."

Answer: You can be relieved of your rheumatism if you take the following: Mix by shaking well and take a teaspoonful at meal times and at bed time and you will soon be relieved. Comp. essence cardol, 1 oz.; comp. fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; syrup sarsaparilla comp. 5 ozs.; and of colchicum, one-half oz.; sodium salicylate, 4 drams; iodide of potassium, 2 drams.

Miss Bertie L. asks: "What remedy can you recommend to reduce obesity safely? I want to reduce about thirty pounds."

Answer: I rely on five-grain arbolene tablets as being the most effective and convenient. Take one tablet immediately after eating. Physicians supply this in sealed tubes with complete directions. After the first five days a pound a day is not too much reduction.

Mrs. M. D. D. asks: "Do you think it is possible for me to increase my weight from 92 pounds to 125 pounds?"

Answer: Yes, I believe that the regular use of a special tonic tablet will do this for you. I have had gratifying results. Ask your druggist for three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets in sealed package with full directions. Take them for several months to get the full benefit.

"Ray" writes: "Can a sufferer from bronchial trouble be relieved? Doctors do not seem to help me. What would you suggest?"

Answer: To relieve chronic cold, sore throat bronchilitis, I would advise the use of concentrated pleasetor mentha-wyeth. Purchase this at any drug store in 2½ oz. packages and mix according to directions given on bottle and you will very shortly be relieved of all bronchial troubles. This will not only relieve, but will correct, and is very pleasant to take.

Mc G. W. asks: "What can one do for a bad catarrhal condition? I have suffered a long time and am unable to find relief. My throat is constantly a threat and nostrils, I am also affected with pelvic catarrh (or leucorrhea)."

Answer: A good tonic and builder such as three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets should build you up with your other treatment. Use Nimrod Powder for local treatment. Get either a large or three-ounce package of the powder and complete directions with package will tell you how to use.

John C. L. writes: "I find my natural strength and nervous system failing me. I do not recuperate as of yore. My food and rest seem not to benefit as they should. Am weak, despondent and unable to perform the duties which were assumed earlier in life, while in addition for work and pleasure is slowly going."

Answer: I think a powerful, harmless tonic and nerve medicine will rejuvenate and restore the functions of digestion, assimilation and elimination by invigorating the nervous system. Obtain three-grain cadomene tablets, packed in sealed tubes, and take as per directions accompanying.—(Advt.)

WOMEN OF RUSSIA.

Petrograd, Feb. 18.—As the war continues the women on the border suffer the horrors of war and the mothers and orphans left at home are the ones who suffer most. In America are many mothers and daughters, who were left penniless by the war of the Revolution, but their suffering are as nothing to the women and children left as widows and orphans of the soldiers who have fought and bled for their country in Europe.

Take a mother and daughter have reason to be thankful to Dr. Pierce for relief from suffering and the cure of their troubles, because of his "Favorite Prescription." This tonic, which is strictly a temperance medicine, has cured thousands of those weaknesses, headaches, nervousness, backaches, which are the common manifestations of ill health in women. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription speedily causes all womanly troubles to disappear—compels the organs to properly perform their natural functions, corrects displacements, overcomes irregularities, relieves pain and misery at certain times and brings back health and strength to nervous, irritable and exhausted women.

It is a wonderful prescription prepared only from nature's roots and herbs by an alcohol to fabric extract. Contains no alcohol or habit forming drugs. No narcotics to wreck the nerves. It banishes pain, headache, backache, low spirits, nervousness, dragging-down sensation, worry and sleeplessness surely and without loss of time.

What Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has done for thousands it will do for you. It's not a secret remedy for its ingredients are printed on wrapper. Get it this very day at any medicine dealers in either liquid or tablet form.

Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy.—(Advt.)

Every Man Read This

This treatment is said to have acquired a wonderful reputation throughout the East, owing to its seeming propensity to fortify the nerve force and generate health and a consequent personal magnetism, so essential to the happiness of every normal human being. It is claimed to be a blessing to those who are physically impaired, gloomy, despondent, nervous or who have trembling of the limbs, dizziness, sexual palpitation, cold hands and feet, insomnia, fear without cause, timidity in approaching social gatherings, inability to act rationally as others do. Also of vast benefit to writers, preachers, brain workers and the victims of society's late hours and over-indulgence in wines, liquor, etc.

By obtaining the treatment at some well stocked pharmacy, no one need know of another's trouble while the treatment has been widely prescribed and dispensed heretofore by physicians and pharmacists, the grain tablets are so prepared with full directions for self administration that it is wholly unnecessary to pay a physician for prescribing them. Just ask for three-grain Cadomene tablets, begin their use and soon all the joy of a healthy body, sound nerves and strength will be felt. (Advt.)

EMPLOYES AT TERMINAL STATION AID LOWE FAMILY

Fund of $40 for Widow and Children of Dead Fireman Is Raised

Subscriptions taken up by Charlie Griffin and A. Pope, train callers at the Terminal station, have netted $40 for the widow and two little children of Fireman C. A. Lowe, who died recently from injuries received in an auto crash, leaving his family in destitute circumstances.

Mr. Griffin was a personal friend of the Lowes, and last week he canvassed the Terminal with good result. The money was all given by Atlantians, with the exception of three subscriptions from out-of-town men. Most of it came from Terminal employes. It has been turned over to Mrs. Lowe.

There were many cash contributions besides these from the following: Charlie Griffin, A. Pope, C. E. Wall, J. A. Archer, G. T. Mabry, J. F. Kanes, E. C. Trotti, S. A. Martin, R. H. Okelfy, E. H. PARKHURST IS RELEASED AFTER 45 HOURS IN JAIL

Promise to Obey Court Causes Judge Pendleton to Modify Order in Contempt Case

After forty-five hours in the Fulton county jail, William F. Parkhurst, publicity and advertising man, was released at 10:30 o'clock Thursday morning on an order granted by Judge Pendleton.

Mr. Parkhurst went to jail at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, sentenced to five days by Judge Pendleton for contempt of court in continuing to circulate communications attacking Atlanta Saturday Night, a defunct local weekly, and J. Bernard Lyon, owner of the weekly, after the court had issued an injunction restraining Parkhurst from so doing.

Wednesday Jerome Simmons, Jr., Mr. Parkhurst's lawyer, asked Judge Pendleton to modify his client's sentence, declaring Parkhurst had agreed never again to molest or injure Lyon in any way and to respect the ruling of the court. Judge Pendleton said he cold not act without the consent of the plaintiff's attorney, Owen Johnson. Seen by Attorney Simmons, Attorney Johnson stated that he would not agree to Parkhurst's release without first consulting his client, Mr. Lyon, who is employed now on the Mobile Register.

All efforts to communicate with Mr. Lyon proving fruitless Wednesday, Attorney Simmons submitted an affidavit, signed by Parkhurst, to Judge Pendleton Thursday in which the advertising man declared his intention of abiding in the future by the court's order restraining him from molesting Lyon. Judge Pendleton then modified Mr. Parkhurst's sentence, and a deputy went to the jail and released him. In his affidavit Mr. Parkhurst declared he surrendered no legal rights he had against the plaintiff.

Putting a New Day on the Calendar

Having Gathered the Most Charming Collection of Silk Dresses That We Can Recall, and at Prices So Evidently Moderate, We Have Planned That

Friday Shall Be Silk Frock Day

What a really good time is in store for the women of Atlanta about to select their new frocks!

We've things to show them, wonderfully new, smart and distinguished frocks that clearly and truly bring into reality the style points of a new, a decidedly fashion-new season.

Tomorrow is Silk Frock Day.

We are doing something we have never done before---setting apart a day at the forefront of the season for the special display of the Silk Frock.

No other way to do such a collection full justice. No other way to do the women of Atlanta justice---for surely it is their right to see, to study, to select, when we have more than in any spring season for them to see and study and select.

The Display Calls for Emphasis in Two Ways--The Styles Are Faultless, the Prices Are Surprisingly Low

That the former of these features should not suffer because of the latter has required some skillful and hard work.

But that is done!

And this is your invitation to the most elegant affair of its kind that Atlanta has known.

At $14.75 A dress of silk crepe poppin, developed in sand, soft green and Belgian blue. The skirt is in long lines and plain—plaited into the waist line—a velvet girdle and a plaited ruching.

At $17.95 A dress of pussy willow taffeta in the soft shades that are so favored. A blousy sort of bodice with bishop's sleeves, the plain skirt falls from a corded yoke; suede belt.

At $19.50 A dress of crepe de chine that emphasizes the new plain bodice and choker effect—fastening on the side. The skirt is shirred over the hips, finished with military cords. In sand and putty shades.

At $21.75 A dress of heavy charmmeuse in sand, putty, gray, navy and Belgian blue. The waist emphasizes the smart coat effect, touched with embroidery, sleeves of Georgette crepe; the skirt has its plaits at the side caught in with straps and buttons. A five-inch cuff at bottom.

And this is but one at this price; there are many.

Style Features

Taffeta dresses have Georgette crepe sleeves. Crepe de chine and crepe meteor dresses have blouses of Georgette crepe in the same shade.

There are little coat and peasant jacket effects.

There are many dresses showing gold and silver run trimmings.

New cord shirring and braids (at the waist line) are frequent.

Skirts are wide—the waist line is a decidedly variable point.

Colors are glorious this spring—navy and Belgian blue, Joffre blue, Rocky Mountain blue, Palm Beach sand, putty, Nevada silver, Gettysburg gray, a new rose.

We are listing a dress or so at the several prices that dominate the display. They are intended merely to point the way. Where one is mentioned a dozen styles are omitted.

At $25.00 A dress of crepe meteor has a blouse that opens at the neck over a soft fold of net, the long sleeves are of Georgette crepe, a broad, embroidered belt falling over the waist line gives a coat-like look. The full skirt is on a deep corded and shirred yoke. This may be had in several favored shades.

Evening Dresses in the Little Blue Room

A Display in Itself Worthy of First Importance

Could we forget their dainty beauty we might tell you much about how inexpensive they are—could we forget how inexpensive they are we might say much of their quaint charm of fashioning, of color, of materials—taffetas, Gros de Londres, laces and nets.

You will be impressed immediately by the striking style changes shown in these silky, lacy affairs—more notable, perhaps, than in the street dresses—for here the widened skirt, the raised waist line, are in great evidence.

At $15.00 A taffeta dress of pale blue has border trimmings and straps over shoulders of black velvet, the wide skirt is shirred to a soft chiffon yoke.

At $15.00 An embroidered net dress of strikingly pretty pattern, fashioned in a triple flounce—blouse and short sleeves of lace—a broad girdle and big bow at back. In delicate shades.

At $19.75 A concoction of net—the skirt is in three ruffles that stand out rather abruptly, each ruffle is bound with satin to correspond with the color of the broad girdle, which may be pink, blue or maize.

At $25.00 A dress of the 1830 Pompadour silks, with the charming high waist line effect of those days. At belt and around shoulders are little knots of flowers.

White Country Club Coats Are Specially Priced

$7.75 Were $9.75 And $11.75 $9.75 Were $12.50

Those now $7.75 are of a heavy-looking but rather light in weight basket weave fabric, showing an irregular plaid marked by black and green lines.

Those now $9.75 are soft white chinchillas.

They are smart coats in lines, with flaring skirts, some having the new and small yoke in the back, belted and plain, big patch pockets.

A Billion Dollar Rise In the Value of Grain.

The following table of figures recently issued by the federal Department of Agriculture shows the advance in the price of America's grain crops:

	Feb., 1915. Per bushel.	Feb., 1914.	Crop, 1914. Bushels.
Wheat	$1.28	$0.81	891,017,000
Corn	.728	.683	2,672,804,000
Oats	.501	.393	1,141,000,000
Barley	.629	.524	194,553,000
Rye	1.006	.617	42,799,000

Since these reckonings were made, there have been further advances, so that the gains today are considerably more than those indicated. On a basis of the Department's figures, however, it is evident that the wheat crop of 1914 is worth $1,149,111,930; the corn crop, $1,945,810,312; oats, $571,671,060; barley, $122,373,837; and rye, $43,055,794—a total of $3,832,012,933. The aggregate value of these crops in 1913 was $2,840,388,541. The increase in value, due partly to the size of the crops, as in the case of wheat, but mainly to a rise in prices, amounts to $991,625,392.

This means that the farmers who raised grain are, potentially, almost a million dollars better off in February 1915 than they were a twelvemonth ago; and, as prices for foodstuffs continue upward with no presage of any appreciable decline, it means that the farmers who raise grain and other food staples this year will be still more fortunate. The 1914 wheat harvest, approximating nine hundred million bushels, was the greatest in the country's record. There were glum predictions that so abundant a supply might depress the market, but just the contrary proved true. The enormous foreign demand affords a profitable outlet for whatever surplus over home needs there may be. So with food commodities in general. There is no likelihood of overproduction; there is every likelihood of a sustained or increasing demand, and of brimming rewards for the farmers who produce such crops.

The German war science didn't make allowance for the food situation.

Today's happy thought: Many a Russian would be a free man now and enjoying vodka with his family but for Germany.

Wheat Equals Cotton At Seventeen Cents.

Traders have figured that at the relative prices now prevailing, wheat equals cotton at seventeen cents, corn equals cotton at fifteen cents, and oats equal cotton at eighteen cents. A blind man can see that the prices are a bounty on grain crops, and an embargo on the next cotton crop.

This observation by the New York Times is borne out by agricultural reports in every part of the South. Georgia planted one hundred and seventy thousand more acres of wheat and three hundred and twenty-eight thousand more acres of oats last autumn than in the same season of 1913, an increase of one hundred and eighteen per cent in wheat and ninety-six per cent in oats. The cotton-growing States combined planted more than seven million acres of wheat last autumn, a gain of nearly two million acres over the preceding year, and increased their acreage of oats one hundred and two per cent.

Watchful farmers need no urging to realize the advantage in producing foodstuffs or the peril in raising another big crop of cotton; and indifferent farmers, who may be disposed to endanger their own and the community's interests, will find the sources of reasonable credit shut against them. All the foresight and energy at the South's command is directed to the supremely important end of curtailing the acreage of cotton and increasing the output of food products. In that fact, lies the surest pledge of Southern prosperity.

People will continue to worry about this war until the baseball news begins to divert their minds.

Expelling the population from Germany to reduce the consumption of food is another method, devised by a paternal government, to beat the high cost of living.

Steamships From Georgia To Latin-American Ports.

The Georgia Manufacturers Association, recently organized in behalf of the State's industrial interests, is considering the fertile suggestion that it establish steamship lines between Savannah and Latin-American ports, as a means of developing its opportunities in those great regions of trade. The idea should commend itself to everyone of business foresight and breadth. The annual imports of Central and South America amount to a billion dollars. Most of this business heretofore has gone to Europe, mainly because Great Britain and Germany had superior facilities for securing it and handling it; but now that the paths of intercourse between Latin America and Europe are closed and the instruments of credit and finance are broken, this rich volume of trade can be diverted to the United States; and by due efforts, much of it can be turned to Georgia.

A prime necessity in the upbuilding of foreign commerce is adequate and dependable means of transportation. If Georgia manufacturers wish to sell their products in Latin-American markets, they must have ships of their own, ships that will be operated to suit their needs and to serve their peculiar interests. They can ill afford to trust to lucky chance or to be dependent, as most American commerce has been, upon the vessels of competitors.

There is enough enterprise and enough available capital among the manufacturers of this State to establish a steamship line between Georgia and Latin-American ports. What New Orleans did years ago, Atlanta, Macon, Savannah, Augusta, Columbus, Rome and other Georgia cities can do today through their co-operative strength. The Manufacturers' Association is an excellent medium through which to inaugurate and press forward this interesting plan. It is fortunate that the industrial leaders of the State have organized to promote their own and the commonwealth's good, and it is to be hoped that they will seize this opportunity for service which faces them at the outset of their endeavor.

Another Opportunity.

Opportunities as well as misfortunes come not in single file, but in battalions. The same conditions that favor the United States in Latin-American markets are to its distinct advantage in many other realms of trade, notably those of the Orient. Australia has been buying thirty million dollars worth of goods a year from Germany and Austria. Now that the war has put an end to this commerce, Australia looks to the United States for a large part of these imports, and, indeed, is seeking connections with the manufacturers of this country.

The Atlanta Industrial Bureau, is in receipt of information to this effect from the trade commissioner of New South Wales. That official will be glad to receive letters from persons or firms who are interested in this matter, and promises detailed replies to all inquiries. His American office is at San Francisco, 419 Market street. Mr. Harvey Johnson, head of the Atlanta Industrial Bureau, well observes in this regard that Georgia manufacturers should be able to sell to Australia "by means of ships leaving Savannah or other Southern ports, and sailing through the Panama canal." Georgia produces many of the commodities which Australia heretofore has imported from Germany and Austria and which now must be procured from the United States. The opportunity is well worth the attention of our manufacturers.

Our January Meat Bill.

Georgia's meat bill for January, as itemized by Commissioner Price, of the State Department of Agriculture, from official records, is extremely interesting. It includes 2,493,553 pounds of dry salt meat; 99,763 pounds of ham; 353,429 pounds of fresh beef; 887,366 pounds of fresh pork; 52,529 pounds of fresh mutton; 912,283 pounds of packing house products; 574,319 pounds of lard and lard products—a total of considerably more than five million pounds, all of which was imported from distant markets, and all of which could have been produced within the State. The Commissioner aptly comments:

"Other sections are making good money, selling us approximately 75,000,000 pounds of meat a year, money that we might very easily keep at home. There are no better grazing lands anywhere than here in Georgia. Already there are excellent packing plants at Atlanta, Moultrie and Augusta; and others will come as soon as there are products for them to handle. This Department is ready to assist and co-operate with anyone who wants to go into cattle and hog raising. Our State veterinarian, Dr. Bahnsen, will gladly respond to inquiries upon this line. The opportunity is ripe; we hope more Georgia farmers will take up this important work."

By producing its own supply of meat, Georgia will save millions of dollars that now flow to other regions, and it will also develop new industries that will add many millions more to the wealth of the State. It can raise on its own farms and ranges every pound of meat its people need, and a surplus for export besides. Circumstances were never so favorable for developing this field of enterprise. Every farmer should do his part and reap his share of the waiting rewards.

The Journal's Letter Box

(The Journal welcomes short letters on seasonable subjects; but long epistles are a weariness to the flesh. In no circumstances will anonymous communications be published.)

Editor The Journal:

I want to commend most highly your editorial in yesterday's Journal on modern "Road Building Machinery." I hope that every road commissioner in Georgia will read it. Your ideas are certainly along the right line, for the importance of good roads is untold and every one should realize that the proper building of highways calls for nothing but the best in road building machinery. I believe that every dollar that is expended by or contributed toward the development and maintainance of its roads is most wisely invested.

Very truly yours,
BEN LEE CREW.

Editor The Journal:

In a recent editorial you have in a most convincing way emphasized the fact that the scientific and sympathetic effort to determine and remove the causes of proverty and want is in itself a most commendable form of real charity. You have effectually answered the complaint sometimes heard that only 40 cents of the dollar actually ministers to the needs of the poor. It is of course desirable that the administrative expense be kept at the lowest possible figure consistent with efficient service. As touching upon this matter I am prompted to give you certain figures in connection with an institution which is meeting the needs of perhaps the most helpless class of our citizens. The institution I refer to is the Christian Helpers league located at 165 1-2 Decatur street in the path of the "down and out" man of the streets—the man who has lost his way, is penniless, homeless and friendless. During the past two years contributions to this institution have amounted to $3,430.65. There has in this period of time been expended for food, clothing, beds and the upkeep of the home $8,759.02. This means that for every dollar given the needy has performed the active service of two and one half dollars.

No man is refused admittance and he is made welcome to all the benefits of the home though he has nothing to give in return. An account is opened with each man and he is accepted as a member of the home with the understanding that those who have founded it believe in him and are extending help which he may repay whenever the opportunity arises. He is helped to find employment. The spark if his better self, which is rarely every entirely extinct answers to the challenge of a friend and the result is that many of those who are helped gratefully pay into the relief extended and actually contribute some of their earnings to the help of other hopeless men.

This institution is reaching between 800 and 900 men annually.

The expense of administration is limited at present to a salary list of $76 per month. This figure will be recognized as exceedingly low and is made possible in part by the unstinted service of a company of Christian business men who devote freely of their time to the care of this work. It is my belief that in this experience many who desire to use their funds wisely and economically used will find the secret. Let them personally know the needs of each case and companion the one who is being helped.

Yours very truly,
J. P. R. BACHMAND.

A Good Dog Story.

Many good stories, humorous and serious, have been written about dogs. Bret Harte's "Boonder," Richard Harding Davis' "The Bar Sinister," Ouida's "A Dog of Flanders," are among those the average reader of fiction reads readily. Among readers who like dogs as well as fiction there is often discussion of the relative merits of popular dog stories.

Tucked away in a corner where greater space is given to more important news of the war was a recent dispatch from Dunkirk which was, for its brevity and lack of the elaboration of detail by which a fictionist could make it into long "short story" or a small book, one of the best of dog stories. Here it is:

"At this action it became necessary for an officer to send a report immediately to his superior, but at the time the Germans fire was too intense to allow a man to cross the fire zone, and Marquis was charged with the mission.

"Off he ran, across the fire-swept zone, and arrived nearly at the objective point when a German ball struck him in the side and brought him down. He struggled to his feet, though losing a great deal of blood, and dragged himself up to the position where the officer was directing a section of machine guns. He let fall the order, reddened by his blood, and breathed his last.

"'His soldier comrades, raising a fund for a monument, on which is to be inscribed, 'Marquis—Killed on the Field of Honor.'"

And after the rearing of the monument—or before—there will be needed but a few bold strokes of a sympathetic story writer's pen to give Marquis fame far wider and more enduring than can be conferred by a monument. Here's a hero for the dog story that should lead all the rest. As it stands it will call forth "certain drops of salt" in many quarters.—Courier-Journal.

The Searchlight

One of the most rapid and effective campaigns for sanitation ever undertaken is that by which the greater cities of Brazil have been made healthful. Brazil was long notorious for its epidemics of typhoid, malaria, yellow fever, and dysentery, and as recently as 1900, it was not uncommon for ships touching at Brazilian ports to lose the greater part of their crews from these diseases.

The city of Santos was originally one of the plague spots of the country. It is situated on a low marshy island, which was the ideal breeding place for hordes of mosquitoes which infested the city, while there was practically no sewerage system.

A special commission was apointed to undertake the sanitation of this city. It was drained by a series of canals and a modern sewerage system installed.

Santos is now a healthful city for Europeans as well as natives, and is the health resort of the people of the state of Sao Paulo, its hotels being crowded by people from the interior from June to September. But a few years ago, it was shunned as a veritable plague spot.

In the other great cities of Brazil, the improvements have been equally striking.

Airmen have proved to be the most valuable and reliable scouts in the European war, and have practically eliminated the element of surprise, which played such a large part in most of the wars of the world.

Recent reports indicate that the use of photography and especially of the moving picture camera, have greatly increased the efficiency of reconnaissance from aeroplanes. It is reported that a high speed cinematograph camera has been invented, which enables the aerial scout to photograph country over which he is passing at the rate of sixty miles an hour. Thus a panorama of the enemy's position and environment, much more accurate and rich in detail than a map, is made by the scout. The machine is almost automatic in its operation. It is fixed to the aeroplane, so that the lens is always directed toward the ground, and a small auxiliary propellor regulates the operation of the shutter in accordance with the speed of the aeroplane.

The greatest value of this machine is that a fine lens will often catch what the eye has missed. Dispatches indicate that concealed artillery, has been located by photographs when it had wholly eluded the eyes of the airmen.

KITCHENER, JOFFRE AND HINDENBURG

ACCORDING to the phrenologists the characters of the leading generals in the European war are clearly indicated by the shape of their heads and the modelling of their faces. A careful analysis of their various bumps and other indications throws an interesting light on their achievements and capabilities. The three great war chiefs, Lord Kitchener, Field Marshal von Hindenburg and General Joffre, make especially interesting studies. It is even possible to foretell, phrenologists believe, the general methods of their campaigns and the courses they are likely to follow.

The three generals have much in common. In each case unusual capacity for command is clearly indicated. The generals are nevertheless of distinctive types. Each is typical of his race and country. It would indeed be difficult to find more characteristic national types. While each of these heads indicates the character of a leader of men, the three nevertheless stand in striking contrast. The analysis which follows is based on the reading of heads made by Miss Jesse Allen Fowler of the Fowler and Wells company.

In some respects General von Hindenburg is the most convincing type of the three. He has what the phrenologists calls a two-story head. It gives the effect of massiveness and power and the possession of talent which accompany them. It is in marked contrast to what may be called a three-head with a lofty brow indicating purely intellectual attainments. The general's forehead and face are unusually square, forming a strange base for the brain. It is a very remarkable head of its type and suggests in a measure that of Richard Croker.

The head indicates a man who works to win and sacrifices everything to accomplish his end. There is little of sentiment or tenderness in his makeup. The face nevertheless indicates some artistic taste. His judgments are never based on theory. He is always eminently practical. He is governed by his knowledge of facts and of men. Such a character depends very little upon instinct or upon sentimental considerations.

Had such a man devoted his life to science he would doubtless have attained great distinction. In his methods of work and mental reasoning General von Hindenburg is extremely orderly and systematic. This characteristic is one of the secrets of his success. It is his watchword to do everything in an orderly, systematic way, and this extends to every detail of his work. In laying out a campaign he may be depended upon to perfect every detail and at all times to have a complete mastery of the situation. He would be the last man in the world to depend upon brilliant ill-timed dashes for his victories, but rather would depend upon deliberate well-ordered advances which would be irresistible.

The salient characteristics of the face are power and domination. The so-called lines of command, the deep wrinkles across the base of the nose, are especially marked. These lines, by the way, are usually found in the faces of all strong generals. It will be noticed that they are more pronounced in General von Hindenburg than in Lord Kitchener or General Joffre. The power to dominate men is indicated in the general modelling of the middle portion of the face. In this respect he bears a striking resemblance to Prince Bismarck.

To sum up, then, General von Hindenburg is a very pronounced type embodying extraordinary strength of character with a genius of command. His will power, domination, memory and earnestness are marked at 100. He is less than normal, however, in the matter of sympathy and artistic taste. In all his activities he is actuated, nevertheless, by high motives.

Lord Kitchener presents an entirely different type. He has the head and face of a soldier, but the character has been developed along different lines. It is not a typical British head whereas General von Hindenburg is a perfect type of the Teuton. The typical British head is broader, more of the familiar John Bull form. Lord Kitchener has many of the characteristics of the Irishman.

In contrast to the modelling of the German general's head Lord Kitchener may be said to have a three-story head. The forehead is higher, with all that this indicates. His is a more intellectual face. While not lacking in strength it has more alertness, a quicker mastery of detail. His genius is of a somewhat different order. The power of command, firmness and energy are very highly developed and are marked at 100. It is on the whole a better rounded, more balanced character than that of the German general.

Lord Kitchener is a very unusual type. Here is a man who probably has few rivals as an executive. The modelling of the brow suggests a man who is more efficient as an executive than as an actual leader of men. He has a marvelous power for mastering a multiplicity of details. Had Lord Kitchener devoted his life to commercial or industrial interest he would probably have risen to be the head of some great trust or similar enterprise.

Although the face is very strong its chief characteristic is alertness. He can master an immense amount of detail with bewildering rapidity. Even the laymen in such matters will recognize the fact at a glance that his eye is very unusual. The nose, again, is especially strong. It indicates the power to clinch and drive home an advantage. It is the face of a man of action and not a theorist. Lord Kitchener is a man of few words. His talent for language is comparatively low, being indicated by 40 per cent.

Lord Kitchener's face suggests a much less stern man than General von Hindenburg, but is nevertheless of its type equally determined. His actions are governed by his will power based upon a conclusion reached by calm, intellectual methods. His mind is more adaptable than that of the German general, more alert and open to a greater variety of influences. The powerful jaw would appear more formidable were it not for a latent Irish twinkle of the eye, which relieves and softens an otherwise set expression. It is an ideal face of its particular type.

General Joffre, although presenting an entirely different type, is scarcely less convincing. His face indicates much the same power and energy found in General von Hindenburg and Lord Kitchener, although its expression is wholly different. He has much the same genius for command, power, determination and endurance, all of which qualities are marked by the phrenologist at 100. His methods are wholly different and his success is due to talents peculiarly his own.

The French General has the largest and most powerful jaw of the three men here compared, which is saying a great deal. The remarkable length of his lower lip measured from the lip to the chin indicates wonderful powers of endurance. He would be the last man in the world to depend upon brilliant ill-timed leaders. The modelling of the chin also shows marvelous powers of penetration. Although the face may appear to the layman less stern than that of General von Hindenburg or Lord Kitchener the phrenologist would judge that he was the strongest of the three in this respect.

General Joffre is not a sentimentalist or a theorist. Although some lines of the face suggest a sympathetic nature this is corrected by the unusually powerful lines of the lower portion of the head. The brain may be said to rest upon a very firm base. The entire contour of the face indicates strength of character and unlimited energy. He is more effective in actual command of his forces than in directing them from a distance.

The face sugests a combination of the Teuton and Celtic types, with many of the characteristics of each. His remarkable executive ability is indicated by the unusual breadth of the ears, which it will be noticed is greater than in the case of the other generals. General Joffre has besides a clearly defined dimple or cleft in the chin, which indicates unusual ambition. The long, straight nose suggests determination of character.

The eyes are very unusual. They are very keen, indicating unusual power of penetration. The fact that they are deep set would mean that he has unusual foresight and keen powers of reasoning out his plans. The strong lines at the center of the forehead indicate wonderful powers of analysis and intuition. The general is doubtless, therefore, an excellent judge of people. His talents in this respect are far above the normal.—New York Sun.

SOCIAL LIFE IN WASHINGTON

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

THE social customs of Washington become more complex each year despite the continuous efforts being made towards simplicity. Certain requirements and customs have been handed down for generations. It is difficult to ignore them and no uniform method of surmounting them has yet been discovered.

* * *

The calling custom is perhaps the most burdensome of all. It has always been generally accepted that the lady of the White House should be exempt from calling, but cabinet women and others in the official circle have, until recently, been more or less punctilious about paying calls according to established rules. Such calls in reality constitute a social farce. The only requirement is the leaving of a bit of engraved pasteboard. The caller does not expect to become acquainted with her hostess, frequently she does not desire it. Under these conditions it is not unusual for two women to have exchanged calls a number of times without having met. Yet each is upon the other's calling list and therefore entitled to remembrance in the distribution of invitations or other social favors.

* * *

"I met the loveliest woman at the dinner Senator Blank gave on Monday night," said one congressman's wife to another. "We sat next to each other and had a chance to talk. I did not catch her name when we were introduced. I asked for it and found that I had been at her house a number of times and that she was at my last tea. But she looked different without her hat, so I had no idea that I really knew her."

* * *

"You mean that you socially knew her," replied her friend. "My first season here taught me the difference between knowing a woman socially and knowing her personally."

* * *

Contrary to popular belief, the women of the official set have no desire to appear snobbish or even exclusive, but certain conditions are forced upon them. Many of them feel that as the wives of politicians sent to Washington by the votes of the people they ought to be cordial and considerate to all with whom they come in contact, but are not able to carry out all of their good intentions.

* * *

A cabinet woman who believed it her duty to return all the calls made upon her one day found herself confronted with an unfamiliar address on Fourteenth street. She concluded to return the call while on her afternoon drive. Arriving at the house she knocked at the number over a plumber's shop. Nothing daunted she entered the shop and asked to be directed to the residence of Mrs. Blank. The blue overalled proprietor answered: "I am my wife. I remember saying last month that she was going to call on you. You'll find her upstairs over the shop. You can go in by them stairs at the side." The caller mounted the stairs and spent five minutes in pleasant conversation with the hostess and her children she found in the front room, and departed with no visible evidence of surprise or condenscension in her manner.

* * *

For many generations certain days have been fixed as belonging to certain members of the official set and calls are made accordingly. The ladies of the families of the supreme court justices receive their calls on Monday, the congressional women on Tuesday, the cabinet women on Wednesday, and those of the senate on Thursday, the ladies of the diplomatic corps select their own days and announce them. It is regarded as a breach of decorum to call upon an official woman upon any other day than that designated unless by special invitation, the inference being that she is engaged in returning calls upon other days.

* * *

Formerly these at home days were thronged with people who would never have received invitations to such houses under other conditions. Elaborate refreshments were provided and certain impecunious individuals, who made social pretensions, counted upon the food given gratuitously at these functions to supplement their own scant meals. This condition has changed considerably within the past decade. The refreshments are simpler, consisting usually of tiny sandwiches, tea and little cakes and sometimes ices. The crowds are smaller because the official women are giving themselves considerable latitude in the number of times they shall attend such functions each season. Each year a larger number of women decline to keep a weekly "at home" day, but instead announce two or more dates during a whole season upon which they will be at home.

* * *

A great factor in lessening the number of at home days in the official set has been the organization of the Congressional Women's club in which every official woman is eligible to membership. Instead of making formal calls upon each other, the women exchange courtesies at the club. Frequently entertainments will be given there instead of at home, and the new club building, opened just before Christmas, provides special conveniences for semi-official social functions. It is claimed that the club spirit now being developed, will go far towards breaking down the walls of conventionality which have so long surrounded Washington hospitalities.

* * *

As a social finisher the National Capitol must rank first among all American cities. Here official position, not money, determines rank. The wife of the newly elected official from a remote locality may be timid and conspicuously provincial, but she has an assured position. Consequently a certain deference is paid to her from the beginning. This gives her confidence, and the good comradeship of other women who came under similar conditions a few years before, inspire her to self-improvement. She soon discards the crude methods of home dressmaker and equips herself in clothes, manners and bearing suited to fulfill the social responsibilities of her husband's official position. The Congressional club is her greatest aid in this development. The one thing which is most noted by the veterans in Washington society is the ease with which newcomers adapt themselves to their new conditions.

* * *

The rules of precedence in Washington are scarcely less rigid than in European capitals. Unpleasant happenings are not infrequent, because the American spirit of equality often prompts unconventional individuals to refuse to defer to those who are entitled to higher rank. It is not only the women who are particular about precedence in Washington. The senator who is sent into dinner after a congressman is sure to remember his hostess unpleasantly. Foreign visitors at the court, for example, are especially sticklers in the matter of precedence. An evidence of this, carefully kept out of the papers at the time, was at a judicial reception at the White House, which the writer attended in a body. Owing to a mistake of some one in charge, a distinguished foreigner, the guest of a diplomat, was admitted before them with his party. The justices were so indignant at what they considered the lack of deference to them that they declined to enter the reception room, and they immediately left the White House, thus causing the unique phenomenon of a judiciary reception without judges.

"If any man here," shouted the temperance speaker, "can name an honest business that has been helped by the saloon I will spend the rest of my life working for the liquor people."

A man in the audience arose. "I consider my business an honest one," he said, "and it has been helped by the saloon."

"What is your business?" yelled the orator.

"I, sir," responded the man, "am an undertaker."

GERMANY TELLS U. S. TO LET BATTLESHIPS ACCOMPANY VESSELS

Declares Submarine of British Coast Is Act of Self Defense to Save German Civil Population From Starvation

BERLIN, Via London, Feb. 18.—The text of Germany's reply to the American note follows:

"The imperial government has examined with the greatest attention from the United States government in the same spirit of good will and friendship by which communication appears to have been dictated. The imperial government is in accord with the United States government that for both parties it is in the highest degree desirable to avoid misunderstandings which might arise from measures announced by the German admiralty and to provide against the occurrence of incidents which might trouble the friendly relations which so far happily exist between the two governments.

"With regard to the assuring of these good relations, the German government believes that it may all the more count on full understanding as the measures as the procedure announced by the German admiralty were fully explained in the note of January 31, in the way dictated by the right against legitimate commerce and economic shipping of neutrals, but rendered only a measure of self defense imposed on Germany by her vital rights against England's method of warfare which is contrary to international law and which so far no protest by neutrals has succeeded in bringing back to generally recognized principles which was existing before the outbreak of war.

"In order to exclude all doubt regarding the original points, the German government once more begs leave to state that Germany, in the way directly opposed to her military interests, for instance, Germany allowed the transportation of provisions to England from Denmark until today, although she was well able, by her sea forces, to prevent it. It contradicting to this attitude, England has not only hesitated at a second infringement of international law, if by such means she could paralyze the peaceful commerce of Germany with neutrals. The German government will be the less obliged to enter into details, as these are put down sufficiently, though not exhaustively, in the American note to the British government dated December 26, a month after five months experience. All these encroachments have been made, as has been admitted, in order to cut off all supplies from Germany and thereby starve her peaceful civil population—a procedure contrary to all humanitarian principles. Neutrals have been unable to prevent the interruption of their commerce with Germany which is contrary to international laws. The German government, as Germany readily acknowledges, has protested against the British proceedings. In spite of these protests and protests from other neutral states, Great Britain could not be induced to desist from the course of action she had decided upon. Thus, for instance, the American ship Wilhelmina recently was stopped by the British although her cargo was destined solely for the German civil population, and according to the express declaration of the German government was to be employed to this purpose.

"FOOD SUPPLY CUT OFF.

"Germany is as good as cut off from all overseas supply by the silent or ostentatious toleration of neutrals, not only in regard to such goods as are absolute contraband, but also in regard to such as according to acknowledged law before the war, are only conditional contraband or not contraband at all. Great Britain, on the other hand, with the toleration of neutral governments not only supplied with such goods as are not contraband or only conditional contraband, but with goods which are regarded by Great Britain, sent to Germany, as absolute contraband, namely, provisions, industrial raw materials, etc., and even with goods which have always indubitably been recorded as absolute contraband.

"The German government feels itself obliged to point out with the greatest emphasis that a traffic in arms, estimated at many hundreds of millions, is also carried on between American firms and Germany's enemies. Germany duly comprehends that the practice of and the toleration of wrong on the part of neutrals are matters absolutely at the discretion of neutrals, and involve no formal violation of neutrality. Germany, therefore, did not complain of any formal violation of neutrality, but the German government, in view of complete evidence before it, cannot help pointing out that it, together with the entire public opinion of Germany, feels itself to be severely prejudiced by the fact that neutrals in safeguarding their rights in legitimate commerce with Germany, according to international law, have up to the present achieved no, or only insignificant, results, while they are making unlimited use of their right by carrying on contraband traffic with Great Britain and our other enemies.

CONTRABAND TRADE.

"If it is a formal right of neutrals to take no steps to protect their legitimate trade with Germany, and even to allow themselves to be influenced in the direction of the conscious and willful restriction of their trade, on the other hand, they have the perfect right, which they unfortunately do not exercise, to cease contraband trade, especially in arms, with Germany's enemies.

"In view of this situation Germany, after six months of patient waiting, sees herself obliged to answer Great Britain's murderous method of naval warfare with sharp counter measures. If Great Britain in her fight against Germany summons hunger as an ally, for the purpose of imposing upon a civilized people of 70,000,000 the choice between destitution and starvation or submission to Great Britain's commercial will, then Germany is determined to take up the gauntlet and appeal to similar allies.

"Germany trusts that the neutrals who so far have submitted to the disadvantageous consequences of Great Britain's danger war in silence or merely in registering a protest, will display towards Germany no smaller measure of toleration, even if German measures, like those of Great Britain, present new terrors of naval warfare.

"Moreover, the German government is resolved to suppress with all the means at its disposal the importation of war material to Great Britain and her allies, and she takes it for granted that neutral governments, which so far have taken no steps against the traffic in arms with Germany's enemies, will not oppose forcible suppression by Germany of this trade.

DETERMINED IN COURSE.

"Acting from this point of view, the German admiralty proclaimed a naval war zone whose limits it exactly defined. Germany, so far as possible, will seek to close this war zone with mines, and will also endeavor to destroy hostile merchant vessels in every other way. While the German government, in taking action based upon this overpowering point of view, keeps itself far removed from all international destruction of neutral lives and property, on the other hand, it does not fail to recognize that from the action to be taken against Great Britain dangers arise which threaten all trade within the war zone, without distinction. This is a natural result of mine warfare, which even under strictest observance of the limits of international law endangers every ship approaching the mine area. The German government considers itself entitled to hope that all neutrals will acquiesce in these measures as they have hope in the case of the grievous damages inflicted upon them by British measures, all the more so as Germany is resolved, for the protection of neutral shipping even in the naval war zone, to do everything which is at all compatible with the attainment of this object.

"In view of the fact that Germany gave the first proof of her good will in fixing a time limit of not less than fourteen days before the execution of said measures, so that neutral shipping might have an opportunity of making arrangements to avoid threatening danger, this can most surely be achieved by remaining away from the naval war zone. Neutral vessels, which, despite this ample notice, which greatly affects the achievement of our aims in our war against Great Britain, enter these closed waters will themselves bear the responsibility for any unfortunate accidents that may occur. Germany disclaims all responsibility for such accidents and consequences.

NOT ALL VESSELS.

"Germany has further expressedly announced the destruction of all enemy merchant vessels found within the war zone, but not the destruction of all merchant vessels, as the United States seems erroneously to have understood. This restriction which Germany imposes upon itself is prejudicial to the aim of our warfare, especially as in the application of the conception of contraband practised by Great Britain towards Germany—which conception will now also be similarly interpreted by Germany—the presumption will be that neutral ships have contraband aboard. Germany naturally is unwilling to renounce its rights to ascertain the presence of contraband in neutral vessels, and in certain cases to draw conclusions therefore.

"Germany is ready, finally, to deliberate with the United States concerning any measures which might secure the safety of legitimate shipping of neutrals in the war zone, Germany cannot, however, forbear to point out that all its efforts in this direction may be rendered very difficult by the circumstances: first, the misuse of neutral flags by British merchant vessels, which is notorious ably known to the United States; second, the contraband trade already mentioned, especially in war materials, on neutral vessels.

USE OF NEUTRAL FLAGS.

"Regarding the latter point, Germany would fain hope that the United States after further consideration, will come to a conclusion corresponding to the spirit of real neutrality regarding the first point. The secret order of the British admiralty recommending to British merchant ships the use of neutral flags, has been communicated by Germany to the United States and confirmed by communication from the British foreign office, which designates this procedure as entirely unobjectionable and in accordance with British law. British merchant shipping immediately followed this advice, as doubtless is known to the American government from the incidents of the Lusitania and the Laertes.

"Moreover, the British government has supplied arms to British merchant ships and instructed them forcibly to resist German submarines. In these circumstances it would be very difficult for submarines to recognize neutral merchant ships, for search in most cases cannot be undertaken, seeing that in the case of a disguised British ship from which an attack may be expected the means at its disposal by violation of law, must render effective her measures in all circumstances in order thereby to compel her adversary to adopt methods of warfare corresponding with international law, and so to restore the freedom of the seas of which Germany at all times is the defender and for which she today is fighting.

AMERICAN FLAG.

"Germany therefore rejoices that the United States has made representation to Great Britain concerning the illegal use of their flag and expresses the expectation that this procedure will force Great Britain to respect the American flag in the future. In this expectation commanders of German submarines have been instructed as already mentioned in the note of February 4, to refrain from violent action against American merchant vessels, so far as these can be recognized.

"In order to prevent in the surest manner the consequences of confusion—though naturally not so far as mines are concerned—Germany recommends that the United States make their ships which are conveying peaceful cargoes through the British war zone disconcernible by means of convoys.

"Germany believes it may act on the supposition that only such ships would be convoyed as carried goods not regarded as contraband according to the British interpretation made in the case of Germany.

"How this method of convoy can be carried out is a question concerning which Germany is ready to open negotiations with the United States as soon as possible. Germany would be particularly grateful, however, if the United States would urgently recommend to its merchant vessels to avoid the British naval war zone, in any case until the settlement of the flag question.

"Germany is inclined to the confident hope that the United States will be able to appreciate in its entire significance the heavy battle which Germany is waging for existence, and that from the foregoing explanations and promises it will acquire full understanding of the motives and the aims of the measures announced by Germany.

ACT NECESSARY.

"Germany repeats that it has now resolved upon the projected measures only under the strongest necessity of national self-defense, such measures having been deferred out of consideration for neutrals. If the United States, in view of the weight which it is justified in throwing and able to throw into the scales of the fate of peoples, should succeed at the last moment in removing the grounds which make that procedure an obligatory duty for Germany, and if the American government in particular should find a way to make the declaration of London respected—on behalf also of those powers which are fighting on Germany's side—and thereby make possible for Germany legitimate importation of the necessaries of life and industrial raw material, then the German government could not too highly appreciate such a service, rendered in the interests of humane warfare, and would gladly draw conclusions from the new situation."

PLEADS FOR MORE TRADE WITH ARGENTINE REPUBLIC

Consul General Says U. S. Sells There, but Doesn't Reciprocate by Buying

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Manuel A. Molina, consul general of the Argentine Republic in New York, in an official statement made public today, makes a plea for more extensive trade relations between the United States and the Argentine. He goes into detail regarding the sound condition of Argentine finance.

After calling attention to Argentine imports from the United States the consul general says that while "the United States is interested in capturing our markets by selling its products to us, although the opportunity is there, it does not reciprocate in purchasing our goods in a similar degree, which would naturally have a great influence upon the minds of our people, and consequently their interest would be aroused toward American products as a matter of reciprocity."

In conclusion the statement says: "As far as the financial situation of the country is concerned, it should be stated that it is of the most solid character. The principal sources of production are intact and their development continues to be a progressive one. The commercial figures for 1913 show an excess of exports over imports, in other words, a balance of trade in favor of the Argentine Republic of $62,000,000. The Argentine foreign trade has reached a total of nearly $100,000,000 gold."

MAKE YOUR OWN HAIR STAIN

This Home Made Mixture Darkens Grey Hair and Makes It Soft and Glossy.

To a half pint of water add:

Bay Rum	1 oz
Barbo Compound	a small box
Glycerine	1-4 oz.

These are all simple ingredients that you can buy from any druggist at very little cost, and mix them yourself. Apply to the scalp once a day for two weeks, then once every other week until all the mixture is used. A half pint should be enough to rid the head of dandruff and kill the dandruff germs. It stops the hair from falling out, relieves itching and scalp diseases.

Although it is not a dye, it acts upon the hair roots and will darken streaked, faded, gray hair in ten or fifteen days. It promotes the growth of the hair and makes harsh hair soft and glossy. (Advt.)

Howard Wires That He Is Ill; Bout With Frank Whitney Here Is Called Off

DIANA DILLPICKLES IN (SHE'S A NEMESIS OF NICK-NACKS) A 4-REEL "SCREECHER" FILM

Whitney Bout Is Called Off

Jacksonville Scrapper Wires That He Is Sick and Can't Come Here--Saul Seeking Substitute

Promoter Mike Saul, who has planned to stage a boxing match Tuesday night at the Bijou theater between Frank Whitney and Frank Howard, announced last night that the match had been called off. This action was taken on receipt of a wire from Howard's manager, stating that Howard, who is at present in Havana, is sick, and would be unable to come to Atlanta for the bout.

There is a suspicion here that Howard's decision not to come here is not so much a physical indisposition, as is claimed. Howard boxed in Havana a few nights ago at a new club which Dan McKetrick has established there. McKetrick is very enthusiastic over the situation, and believes that boxing is going to make a big hit there. It is believed here that he has gotten hold of Howard and persuaded him to stick around there a while longer, in the hopes of getting on there regularly for a while.

However, regardless of the motive that prompted Howard in cancelling his engagement here, the match has been definitely called off. Howard's manager offered to put on as a substitute for his boy either Harry Donahue or Jack Sentell to meet Whitney, but Saul wisely declined any such substitution. Instead, he is trying to get Dundee, Mandot or Callahan to take Howard's place. Terms for a match with Whitney have been wired these boys, and it is likely that one of the three will be landed.

Either of this trio should prove a very acceptable substitute for the Jacksonville pug. Mandot and Whitney boxed ten rounds to a draw in New Orleans last year. Dundee and Mandot went twenty fast rounds to a draw in New Orleans a few days since, while Callahan and Mandot have battled on even terms in one bout. These are three cocking good boys, and all have more widely established reputations than Howard. Hence if Saul can land either of the three for the match he will have framed a better show than the Whitney-Howard match to begin with.

Local Bowlers Lose in Match

Third place in a four-team match was the best the Atlanta bowling team could get last night, when they booked up with the teams representing Knoxville, Chattanooga and Memphis. The local boys finished with a margin of 43 pins over the Bluffitown five. Chattanooga led the procession with Knoxville taking second place.

The Lookout five piled up a great score in their three games. They totalled 2,907 pins. Knoxville had a ten-pin margin over the home team with 2,773 against 2,763. Loerner of the Chattanooga team had the highest individual score for three games, with 618. His teammate, Chamberlin, a one-arm roller, toppled over 607 in the three beats. Wichaus, the star of the Knoxville team, was second high with 610. Knettle and Mainern, of the Memphis team, rolled 606 and 605 respectively. Neither of the locals was able to reach the 600 point.

The Sportlight

BY GRANTLAND RICE

VON HINDENBURG.

We may not cheer your land's intent,
Where Belgium struggles in the clutch—
The system that you represent,
And such.

But in the forefront of the fray,
Out there among the battling clan,
The wide world turns your way to say
"SOME MAN."

"On the level," queries Fight Fan, "what's the low-down on this Johnson-Willard fight?"

About 99 2-3 per cent of it, we should say, offhand.

THE BIG GUESS.

Even among those who should know this Juarez affair has turned into the Great Guess, with all the known laws of dope badly frayed and bent.

It is generally admitted that Willard would never have a chance with Johnson if the Zulu was near old-time form, because Willard is no part of a Corbett, Fitzsimmons or Jeffries.

But at present no one has the range of Johnson's condition, meaning his physical ability to last in case Willard should be able to keep out of danger for twelve or fifteen rounds.

THE SOLE INTERNATIONAL.

There is practically no chance now extant to arrange any international sporting devices in the way of lawn tennis, golf, polo or yachting. The sole international entry left with a chance to continue his profession is Freddie Welsh.

Welsh lifted the lightweight championship last July. Since that fight he has drawn his share of the soft money and the 10-round fox trots. So it is now about high time for Freddie to give Ritchie or White a chance to renew the international fracas over the longer route. Which he isn't very likely to do as long as the public at large continues to pay regular money to watch him in one of these 10-chapter smears.

THE TEUTON AT PLAY.

Sir: Here's a proposition in sport that has often puzzled me. Germany, as a nation at home, hardly goes in for sport at all. In Germany they have no national game, no boxing, little tennis and less golf. Germany simply isn't a nation of athletics. Yet, here in America, the Germans go in strongly for sport. Look at such baseball stars as Wagner, Pfeffer, Pfeister, Schulte, Lobert, Herzog, Schaefer and dozens of others. And in addition to this, Germans in America are well represented among the best boxers, and in other ways of sport. Some of our best football players have been Teuton all the way through. If Germans in America take so readily and aptly to sport, why is there so little sport in Germany?

BYSTANDER.

MAYBE THEY HAD.

Sir: In ranking the best outfield of the game why leave out the old Philadelphia combination—Delehanty, Thompson and Hamilton? These three had Keeler, Kelley and Brodie beaten a block.

J. W.

THE YALE LINE.

Football is still a far journey from here in one way, but in another spring practice will be under way in a few weeks.

Which recalls the fact that Yale hasn't yet forgotten that 36 to 0 count from last fall, and if hard work can even up for that Joltt Yale expects to turn the trick.

Those on the inside realize that the main Yale weakness now is the matter of securing a proper line coach, one with the inspiration and with keen knowledge and understanding of that important work. Yale's 1914 forwards knew little football, and it was here that the Blue gap became disastrous. If Yale is to upset a Haughton machine, she must go out for a line instructor of first rank.

COURAGE.

Something over a year ago the query came our way as to what nation in sport, on an average, had most courage or the best nerve. We could never figure that courage or nerve was under the control of any one country. There may be a few varieties of so-called nerve, but in the main the man from one country is about as courageous as the man from another. Or, as Old Irv Cobb said, after coming back from Europe, where he had seen several nations up against the test: "I don't believe there is a coward in the world when the showdown comes."

DONOVAN AND LAJOIE.

Before leaving New York for the dinner given by Philadelphia sporting writers to himself and Lajoie, the Yank mandarin had a prophecy to offer in regard to the Frenchman's 1915 play.

"A number of folks," remarked Bill, "have figured that since Larry dropped down to .258 last season, and this happens to be his twentieth year, Joe is about through. Nothing to it. It's a good bet that Larry bats well over .300 again and has one of the best seasons he has known in the last five years. He is keen about the change, as he had been in Cleveland too long and needed the shift."

OFFSIDE PLAYS.

The main factor in reaching the top is the capacity for infinite patience.

There are occasions also when it takes more nerve to quit than it does to keep on going.

The United States as a nation at large is now discovering what a radiant chance the umpire has always enjoyed by remaining neutral and popular at one and the same moment of rendering a certain decision and retaining the admiration of both sides.

Buck Herzog, of the Reds, is now busy studying international law to find out whether or not he can run up the Boston flag when his club steams into New York or Philadelphia.

If any of the European campaigns should begin to sag a bit we suggest that the stricken country send for Jim Gilmore. Any promoter who can step forth and dig up as many "angels" in parlous times like these to take a shot a financing a ball club could provide an entire army corps with guns, ammunition and food within a week.

State League To Meet Friday

CORDELE, Ga., Feb. 18.—President Dick Jemison, of the Georgia State league, has called a meeting of the directors of the league to meet in Thomasville Friday, February 19, to ratify the proposed schedule for the coming season, discuss the salary limit and conduct any other business which may come up.

President Jemison was in Cordele Tuesday afternoon, coming here from Americus. He will visit the other four cities in the circuit before the meeting Friday, and it is expected that everything connected with the opening of the league this season will be satisfactorily arranged.

Rohe Will Lead Newnan Again

NEWNAN, Ga., Feb. 18.—Following the meeting of the directors of the Georgia-Alabama league, the directors of the Newnan baseball team received a wire from George Rohe, formerly of the Atlanta team of the Southern leasue, and who successfully managed Newnan in 1913, offering his services for the coming season, and a contract was immediately mailed for his signature.

Newnan has always led the league in attendance, official figures backing this statement, and the coming season has the best outlook of any year previous.

Jack Johnson Would Return

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—United States officials here Wednesday received information from an emissary of Jack Johnson, the negro champion heavyweight pugilist, that Johnson wanted to return to the United States. Johnson, who left America while under sentence for violation of the Mann act, desired to know the attitude of the government regarding his return. Johnson could be tried on two pending charges or be resentenced under the former conviction, it was said, but officials refused to reveal their course of action.

TRAILING THE NEWS

BY INNIS BROWN

Another invasion of southern soil is on. The first brigade has already entered Dixie and pitched its tents. But be not alarmed, nor feel any indignation at this entry. Neither musket nor cannon is included in the equipment of the invading forces. Instead the invaders are coming armed with ball, glove and bat. Instead of shooting minnie ball, grape and canister this bunch will shoot nothing more harmful than a bit of hot air.

A corps of the young men, who will do the dingling for Bill Donovan's cheerless Yanks during the approaching baseball season were the first to pack their kits and hike away to Dixie. They landed in Hot Springs a day or ago, and are expected to spend some three or four weeks there. They are but the advance guard. Others are to follow shortly. Key Perryman, Cracker hurler of last season, has been notified to report at the Arkansas Spring on Monday. Perry will join a group of some six or eight other Browns there for a short stay, before the whole squad mobilizes down at Houston for the regular spring stunts.

Within a period of ten days or so, practically every manager in the major leagues will have gathered his forces and started them to their respective training camps. March 1 is the date by which they all expect to be on hand. And maybe it won't be a welcome sight to the natives in these cities, towns, and hamlets! Honest-to-goodness ball players in regular ball players' uniforms galloping about the field morning, noon, and night. It will make fandom forget for a time at least the latest phase of the grand old game, which has to do with injunctions, bill of complaint, and other phrases peculiar to the lawyer craft.

Clark Griffith, who lays claim to a lot of distinctions in baseball, notable among which is the fact that he has come about as close as any man ever did, never to have won a pennant in the major leagues, has now bobbed up with a new record. Griff claims to have discovered the last thing in nerve, the summum bonum of exhibitions of gall. Here is how the discovery came about. Last fall Griff purchased a young hurler from the Pacific coast league, Howard Ehmke, by name. Young Ehmke was nothing but a strip of a school boy when the Los Angeles club picked him up. But he showed worlds of stuff, and Griff on a tip invested two thousand bucks in a purchase of his contract.

Naturally Griff figured that the youngster would be tickled to death to get a trial in the majors right off, so he anticipated little trouble in signing him up. But a short time since, it was reported that Ehmke was being tempted by the Federal league. Griff learned that he had a brother up in New York state practicing law, and he got busy with said brother to get the kid in line.

His first move was to wire the elder Ehmke to come to Washington to talk the matter over. Imagine the surprise when Ehmke the elder wired back that he could not come to Washington, and that he didn't think the Washington club would meet his figures anyway. "I have advised Howard to sign at a salary of $4,500," said he, "with a bonus of $1,000 for signing." He further admonished the Washington skipper to let him know by 9 o'clock on the following morning whether he cared to meet those terms. That was all, just $6,000 for a kid pitcher, one year out of the deep brush. We don't know whether the Washington club keeps an office cat, but if it does, we know several things we would rather be than said fellow when this message reached the Old Fox.

You may as well pass it to the University of Illinois as the big fuss, when it comes to dashing forward into the limelight from a position of comparative obscurity in record time. Last fall Bob Zuppke groomed and rode the Illini eleven rough shod over all western oppposition on the gridiron. Now the Champlain basketball team is smearing up the scenery with the other western college fives and expects to grab the title by defeating the Maroon quintet in an early engagement. Given this much of a start, old George Huff will more than likely turn out a baseball team that would make Stallings' Braves go some.

Mike Donahue to Referee Columbus Game Saturday

Coach Mike Donahue, who presides over the destinies of things athletic down at Auburn, Ala., has been selected as the referee for the big basketball battle to be staged Saturday night at Athletic club when the Columbus Y. M. C. A. comes to tackle Coach Joe Bean's stalwarts. Mike handled the game in Columbus several weeks since, and his work was satisfactory to both teams, hence his selection for the return engagement between the two warring forces.

Local basketball fans are manifesting unusual interest in this game. Supporters of the club team are offering wagers on even terms that the home boys will come out victors in this game. Their predictions are based on two considerations. In the first place, the home boys are playing a better game of basketball now than they have at any previous time this season. In the game with Mercer last week, their passing was about as clever an exhibition as ever staged on a local court. Also the boys were shooting goals with fine accuracy.

As a further indication of the home team's chances for a victory, the fact is pointed out that the Georgia team gave the Columbus boys a decisive defeat a few nights since. However, Peddy, the star forward of the Columbus team, was not in the line-up. His absence no doubt handicapped the team, but whether his presence in the line-up would have made up the margin by which his team suffered defeat is merely a matter of guess.

But regardless of the final outcome, that game is sure to prove the one big stunt of the local season. If the home boys win they will have as good claim as any team to the southern title. Also it will take a victory to get an even break with the Columbians. Both teams should be in fine shape for the game, and a bristling contest is expected from the jump.

The teams will probably line up as follows:

ATLANTA.	COLUMBUS.
Perbes, rf.	Peddy, Struppa rf.
Graves, lf.	Massey, lf.
DuBard, c.	Kilcrease, c.
Ed Carter, lg.	Dozier, lg.
Weaver, rg.	Newman, rg.

Red Sox Signs Mays

BOSTON, Feb. 18.—Carl W. Mays, who pitched for the Providence Internationals last season, signed a contract yesterday with the Boston American League club.

Jack White to Battle Atwell

Jack White, the Chicago lightweight glove wielder, who is making his home in Atlanta at present, has signed to box in Chattanooga Friday night of next week. White's opponent will be Cleve Atwell, of Brooklyn, who has been doing a bit of boxing around Nashville of late. The two boys will go eight rounds. White begins training for his match today, and will leave here the latter part of the week for Chattanooga. He expects to return here after this match, and hopes to get on with Johnny Dundee or Ad Wolgast. Mike Saul is prospecting for such a match.

Gulls Sign Powell

MOBILE, Ala., Feb. 18.—Manager Charles Schmidt, of the Mobile Southern association club, has signed Outfielder W. B. Powell, of the Northwestern league, who has a batting average of .265 and fielding of .956.

Market in New York Closed 9 to 12 Points Higher Than Previous Close

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—Cotton was very quiet at the opening today and after starting safely at a decline of 2 points to an advance of 3 points, ruled about 5 to 4 points net higher during the early trading. Cables were about as expected, and the only foreign business here appeared to be some buying of May against sales of July and October. Trade interests were moderate buyers, but the market was so narrow that the early price movement was caused by comparatively small orders, with the absence of general business attributed to the restricting influence of shipping uncertainties and a disposition to await better information as to the probable acreage this spring.

Cotton continued very quiet in the forenoon and there were very few contracts for sale, prices ruled steady at a net advance of 5 to 6 points on some scattered covering and trade buying.

The continued heavy exports, amounting to over 80,000 bales for today and the somewhat easier selling of foreign exchange helped to restrict offerings during the afternoon and prices ruled 5 to 7 points net higher.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

(By Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 18.—Cotton lost 2 to 4 points net in the near months on the opening rally under liquidation. The distant months were somewhat steadier and showed net gains of displaced strength immediately after, going to a point or two above the previous close today. Traders seemed disposed to sell the near and buy the distant options.

The market was dull but steady throughout the morning. The future trade appeared to be selling of exports from the spot markets and spot prices were at a net rise of 4 to 5 points.

The cash spot sales were 5,000 bales all told, helped the market after the noon call and spot prices were 5 to 6 points up.

HAYWARD & CLARK'S COTTON LETTER

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 18.—An authority on cotton and the cotton trade writes Hayward & Clark as follows: "The weather lately has been favorable all over the South, and the crop is coming on rapidly, if not backward. Plenty of moisture is reported everywhere, and the prospects are that the stock will reduce cultivation. Sales of fertilizers are falling off very rapidly, and fertilizers will be greatly diminished this season, consequently reduction in yield is consequent; quite large.

Jackson, Miss., says: "The white pencilled weevil is the most destructive pest we have to fight. From 200 to 1,000 bales of staple cotton are ginned for sale in this county.

New York says: "Germany has placed an embargo on the exportation of potash salts and a good variety of potash in the United States is anticipated."

Chicago says: "Increased apprehension as to shipping caused a sharp break in wheat prices. Nothing of startling character has been developed supply in the country and enough grain is coming to the primary markets to meet the requirements of the export trade. Liverpool was easier on account of the weakness in wheat and spots 4 points lower; sales, 5,000 bales.

"There was decidedly favorable weather overnight, not in the belt but indications are for generally favorable weather over the week in the belt.

"The market opened 2 points lower with enough selling to absorb the limited selling. Political developments appear to be the principal factor and the disturbance to shipping is the principal source of further liquidation as by short interests which may affect the speculative buying interests for grain interests in cotton.

"Bear sentiment in the cotton market would have been steady buyers in the past few days, but the uncertainty as to the extent of spot buying orders for October around 9c has been against it.

"The only light on the week looks around Friday's Government report, which is expected to show 240,000 acres less than last year for cotton.

BARNESVILLE BLUES MAKE GOOD IN RIGID DRILL TEST

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

BARNESVILLE, Ga., Feb. 18.—Major Hugh Palmer and Captain C. M. Kimbrough put the Barnesville Blues, company G, Second infantry, national guard of Georgia, through the rigid inspection and severe test of their knowledge of military tactics Wednesday, but the officers and men were highly gratified at the result and feel that the reports of Major Palmer and Captain Kimbrough will be quite complimentary when turned in.

Captain Pierce Hammond and Lieutenants John M. Howard and John G. Golden have exerted themselves faithfully to have their company in good shape and it is believed they have a company of which they and this community should feel justly proud.

STOCK MARKET STEADY; PRICES WERE IRREGULAR

Canadian Pacific, Bethlehem Steel, New York Central Up Westinghouse Lower

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 18.—More than ordinary interest attached to the opening of today's stock market because of the intense tension abroad. London, however, showed some firmness in the American list and initial prices here while somewhat irregular, indicated a degree of support, leading issues advancing a fraction over yesterday's close. The feature of the special group was Mexican Petroleum which was heavily traded in at further declines. The stocks feverish movement suggested precipitate liquidation. Texas company, another oil property, also was weak.

In the early afternoon prices in general were restored to a level with yesterday's close, but pressure on prominent stocks continued, Minneapolis and St. Louis and Iowa Central issues made full recovery.

Bonds were depressed.

Union Pacific, Steel and Amalgamated were sold moderately in the late dealings.

The close was heavy.

STOCK MARKET OPINIONS

Financial interest in the entire market as a whole is likely to drag until foreign situation clears, says the Financial Chronicle. The war continues many fronts. It is almost certain that Europe will conclude to buy here in many large quantities whatever it will have to be financed by some arrangement.

Joseph: The country has not yet awakened to the importance of the recent New York Central financing. Its terms have been filed with the Interstate Commerce commission. Lehigh Valley new 6 per cent bonds in the entire market should sell at 105 or better. Bar Pacific will move in irregular fashion. Bar Pacific will go higher. Baltimore & Ohio directors meet today. Federal reserve bank reduces discount rate on 20 to 90-day paper to 4 per cent.

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—Increased perils in transatlantic shipping were principally responsible today by a big drop in wheat values. Liquidating sales reached great proportions in spite of the Liverpool strength. Opening 5¢ to 1¾c lower, wheat closed fell 3¾c to 4¾c under last night. Corn ended 1¾c to 2¾c lower.

Subsequently active export buying helped wheat and it closed strong, 1⅜ to 1⅝ above last night.

General selling also carried down corn, which opened unchanged to 1¾c down and then underwent a decided setback.

Big sales here to seaboard exporters served to prop corn. The market was firm at an advance of ⅝@⅞c to ⅞@1¼c net.

Oats weakened with other grain.

Lower prices for logs started provisions down.

GRAIN MARKET OPINIONS

Bartlett, Frazier & Co.: The May delivery is a dangerous proposition for anybody and as long as we have unsettled foreign affairs. The two-sided proposition for us time if prices keep low will depend upon their general level.

Wagner & Co.: All grains are now under the influence of March receipts reports. Export demand for corn is disappointing.

Walter Fitch: Feeling is mixed, but should the foreign demand continue to keep rising as the present scale declines are not likely to last long.

Lamson Bros. & Co.: Until the present difficulties in the foreign shipping situation are settled, the market is likely to continue irregular. We look for further declines from this level the long side appears best.

Ware & Leland: The course of the wheat market depends a great deal on developments that outlooks are valueless. Corn—If, a large export business develops prices should rally. But with a continuation of foreign demand prices are likely to decline.

COTTON GOSSIP

Hayward & Clark says: Three events of interest to the cotton trade are on today's schedule. Germany will proceed with her submarine blockade on the British coast along the lines laid down by the imperial minister of marine; the Italian parliament will meet to deal with the various problems posed by the war, the Balkan Levy will wage its initial effort, thus altering the conditions which have impeded certain New York houses in its differences and deliver contract grades on contract, thus manipulating prices in that market at pleasure. It would be idle to speculate concerning either the immediate or the ultimate results of these events. The German submarines may make ducks and drakes of British commerce, and by stirring neutral ships draw powers now neutral into the conflict; the Italian parliament may force the home of Savoy to draw the sword on the side of the allies, thus indefinitely widening the field of battle; the Smith-Lever law may hurt values by shutting the delivery on cotton which heretofore untenderable in New Orleans, or help values by setting up New York manipulators who have nothing but full weights and middling as they may, no conservative operator will buy on these events. Conservatism is the word the whole earth is in the melting pot. For the next few months at least the course of events will be largely determined by the courage and firmness displayed by the various nations and by the wisdom with which the question of foreign exchange is handled. We believe will gradually make a resolute fight, if exports continue large, to keep the price of the average man wants to see what will be done if exports decline. As to acreage, men of equal intelligence in advance substantially agree on views. Curtailment is generally expected, but a moderate reduction would hardly serve the turn unless war-time consumption should exceed the highest forecasts. In such a contingency the policy of watchful waiting cannot be safely left to politicians alone.

Logan & Bryan say: Southern spot markets continue fairly bold, with no pressure while exports are going forward at a satisfactory rate. The near course of the market is dependent on the course of foreign exchange and developments on the sea.

Liverpool opened today. Total 84,000 bales, and so far for week 338,000 versus 99,000 last year. Forward to arrive 70,000 bales. Sales 5,000, steady. Prices closely, probably rain extreme west portion.

Mississippi—Cloudy tonight and Friday, probably showers Friday; moderate east winds.

Georgia and South—Fair tonight and Friday; strong north winds.

Louisiana—Unsettled tonight and Friday, probably rain, warmer tonight in east portion, colder tonight; light to moderate southeast to south winds on the coast.

Arkansas—Unsettled tonight and Friday, probably rain, warmer tonight in east portion, colder Friday in west portion.

Oklahoma—Tonight and Friday generally cloudy, probably local snow in southeast portion, colder Friday.

East Texas—Unsettled tonight and Friday, probably showers in east portion, colder tonight in extreme northwest portion, colder Friday except in west portion; moderate southeast to southerly winds on the coast.

West Texas—Unsettled tonight and Friday generally cloudy, colder tonight, colder Friday in east portion.

An authority on flour and fabric matters in cotton says: "The flour situation is very favorable and some factories done when on the whole is unsatisfactory. Plenty of moisture in the ground to overcome backward season. Low prices will reduce cultivation. Sales of fertilizers almost nil so far. The use of fertilizers will be greatly diminished this season, consequently reduction in yield is consequently indicated.

Ship building is subject to cloudy entire belt with rain likely in western states.

Cotton goods trade is very quiet, there is a fair demand in evidence. South sold moderately last week and will be small from now on. Local jobbers from smaller spot houses. Local jobbers and small and market looks like going little lower.—Gifford.

SHRINEDOM PLANS GRAND CONCERT FOR WEDNESDAY

Mrs. Sybil Owen Hartley One of Notables on Program

Shrinedom will offer Atlanta an evening of grand concert next Wednesday in the Lyric theater.

Advance announcements reveal promise of unusual musical offerings, including several numbers by Yaarab's band of twenty-five pieces and others by distinguished soloists. The occasion is attracting much social interest, moreover, and its Shrine sponsors anticipate a notable audience.

Mrs. Sybil Owen Hartley, whose fame as a concert singer is nation-wide, is one of the artists announced for the evening. She is the wife of Noble Hartley, of Medina temple, Chicago. Others are Mrs. Wesley Hirshburg, saxophone; Miss Eda E. Bartholomew, piano; Oscar Pappenheimer, violoncello, and Nobles H. R. Bates, baritone; Frank Cundell, tenor; C. E. Buchanan, violin; Edwin Carl Kraft, harp.

This will be the second in a series of entertainments by Yaarab temple in preparation for the pilgrimage of Yaarab's band and patrol to the Shriners' imperial council meeting in Seattle this summer. Much distinction is awaiting both organizations. Imperial Potentate Frederick R. Smith, of Rochester, N. Y., guest of the temple last Saturday while his way to New Orleans, announced then that he had selected the Atlanta band and patrol for his official escort in the Seattle pageants.

$500 REWARD OFFERED FOR CAPTURE OF MYERS

Sheriff Mangum Offers Big Reward and State May Add $250

Sheriff Mangum has offered a reward of $500 for the capture of Will Myers, who escaped from Fulton county jail while under sentence of death twenty years ago, and who was recently reported to be a prosperous cigar dealer in San Francisco.

John Owen, chief deputy sheriff, said he thought that detectives had long since stopped working on the case because the many rewards once offered have lapsed and are not longer collectable. The state's reward of $250, thinks John Owen, might be revived; in addition, is Sheriff Mangum's reward of $500. This, it is thought, will stimulate interest in the case and put detectives actively on Myers' trail.

Although the sheriff's office in Atlanta had information that Myers is in San Francisco, it is stated that no idea of his address or location in the western city has ever been obtained.

San Francisco's police and detective departments are working on the case, and, if the clues which point to Myers' presence in San Francisco have any foundation in fact, it is thought that some trace of the fugitive will be found. The sheriff's office in Atlanta, however, is confident that Myers has fled to Mexico or elsewhere by now, after reading the news of the new hunt for him.

ATLANTA WILL SOON HAVE TWO "JITNEY BUS" LINES

George B. Kelley Moving Spirit Behind the New Company

Atlanta is to have two "jitney bus" lines.

Thursday morning George B. Kelley, W. E. Austin, Jr., and A. W. White raised the superior court for a charter for "The Atlanta Auto Service company." The company will operate and maintain automobile bus lines and passenger routes in Atlanta.

Mr. Kelley is the moving spirit behind the new concern. He has had much experience with jitney buses in other cities, and has traveled extensively investigating how they worked.

The new company will have $10,000 capital stock, with the privilege of beginning operations as soon as $100 is paid in.

On Tuesday, February 9, the first jitney bus company applied for a charter. This was "The Atlanta Auto Transit company."

MAN MAY GET DRUNK AND HAVE GOOD CHARACTER

Court of Appeals Makes Ruling in Case of Dunn Versus State

Because a man has at one or more times in his life drunk to excess from the cup that cheers is not a sufficient reason to determine that such a man's character is altogether bad.

This, in effect, was the ruling of the state court of appeals Thursday in the case of Waldo Dunn vs. the State. Dunn was indicted for the murder of Henry Tankersley, of Blue Ridge, and was convicted of voluntary manslaughter in the Fannin county superior court.

Judge H. L. Patterson sentenced him to twelve years in the penitentiary, and overruled his motion for a new trial.

Dunn excepted to the judgment and brought his case to the court of appeals, that court having previously given him a new trial for the same killing.

Among the grounds for new trial alleged by Dunn through his attorney, Judge N. A. Morris, of Marietta, was that the court below erred when it permitted the introduction of testimony to the effect that the defendant had, prior to the killing, been seen in an intoxicated condition.

Commenting upon this point in his motion for a new trial for Dunn, which motion was included in the brief filed with the court of appeals, Judge Morris said:

"Movant insists that sacred, ancient and modern history; almost from the dawn of creation down to this ruling by the court teaches us of the good character of men who at some time in their lives got drunk: this list includes Noah, Princes of the House of David, kings, czars, emperors, presidents, senators, governors, judges, lawmakers, solicitors, lawyers, preachers and teachers.

"The Bible tells us that Noah got drunk and also that Noah 'was a just man and perfect in his generation,' and that 'he walked with God.'

"A judicial decision should not be written in the same breath. This late day reversing history and blighting the good character of so many of those whom the world has so long delighted to honor. 'Movant reasonably contends that a man at some time in his life can have gotten drunk, and still that his general character can be good."

DR. CHAPMAN PREACHES ON UNANSWERED PRAYER

"Why Our Prayers Are Not Answered," Topic of Powerful Sermon Thursday

At the Chapman-Alexander revival tabernacle Thursday afternoon Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman preached a powerful sermon on the subject, "Why Are You Prayers Not Answered?"

His text was taken from the third verse of the fourth chapter of James: "Ye ask and receive not, because—"

It was another sermon to the Christians in the audience, to those who profess religion, to those who pray, to the preachers as well as the laymen.

All of Dr. Chapman's preaching to date has been addressed to such as these. Not once, except incidentally, has he gone after the unsaved. His plan evidently is to lay the groundwork for a great revival by first getting the Christian people stirred.

The song service Thursday afternoon, as at all the meetings, shared equally with the sermon. Led by Charles M. Alexander, the famous singing evangelist, the choir swept through song after song with magnificent power, and the audience sang as only people can sing who are under the influence of a great religious enthusiasm.

GIRLS! DRAW A MOIST CLOTH THROUGH HAIR

Try this! Hair gets thick, glossy, wavy and beautiful at once.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, simply get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.
